Russians Get Huge Booty in Capture Of Vital Rail Base

Take 310 Tanks, Twenty-Two Locomotives as Town of Sychevka Falls

LONDON, March 8 (CP).—Forging a ring of encirclement around the German base of Vyazma, the Russians tonight announced the capture of the rail town of Sychevka after a stubborn battle of two days in which 8,000 of the enemy fell dead before a furious Red Army onslaught.

Latest reports to London indicated the Red Army had pushed to within twenty miles of Vyazma from the direction of captured Gzhatsk, which is thirty-five miles to the northwest. Military observers said the Russians appeared to have already sealed the fate of Vyazma.

The town lies thirty-five miles north of Vyazma and the same distance south of recaptured Rzhev on a railway linking those two cities, which for many months had been strongpoints in the German positions before Moscow, now crumbling away.

The booty was impressive and the list belied an earlier German assertion that Sychevka had been evacuated without opposition in accordance with German plans for shortening their lines.

A special communique, broadcast Monday night by the Moscow radio and recorded here by the Soviet Monitor, said the material captured included 310 tanks, twenty-two railway locomotives, forty guns, eight planes, 250 machine guns and 218 railway cars and fuel cars.

PERIL TO VYAZMA INCREASES HOURLY

Advances by two columns swinging down upon Vyazma were reported in the midnight communique, hourly increasing the peril to Vyazma.

West of Gzhatsk Red Army troops fought ahead into eleven populated places, said the late war bulletin as recorded by the Soviet Monitor, and south of Olenino Soviet troops swept into several populated places.

The Germans launched counter-attacks in this latter area but all were declared repulsed with 800 Germans killed.

As to Timoshenko's northwestern

Helps to Put Rommel on the Run

Here is a dramatic view of the M-10, the new United States tank destroyer, more powerful than anything the Axis can trot out. This one was photographed during a test at the arsenal of the Fisher Body division of General Motors, Detroit, Mich., where the M-10 was designed and is now in mass production. This weapon already has been tested in battle and its performance described as "excellent." Calibre and range of that big turret gun are military secrets.

Big British Bombers in Night Raid

Americans Smash at U-Boats in Daylight

LONDON, March 8 (CP).—Waves of R.A.F. heavy bombers roared across the Straits of Dover to the continent for an hour tonight, and soon afterward Axis radio stations went off the air.

The R.A.F. attacks tonight followed a two-night lull in the poundings of the Axis war machine in Europe.

American heavy bombers, escorted by Canadian and British fighters, renewed the offensive against Germany's U-boat menace by daylight today by hammering the key French railway points of Rennes and Rouen, and shooting down more than a score of enemy fighter planes in the first concentrated operations by Allied air units since Saturday.

Two of five planes destroyed by the fighter escort were shot down by Toronto pilots, Flt. Lts. H. C. Godefroy and C. M. Macdonald. Flt. Lt. C. M. Hagwood, also of Toronto, damaged another German, the R.C.A.F. said. No Canadian aircraft was lost.

Four bombers and two fighters were reported missing in the attack, the fifth daylight raid on the continent by the United States Army Air Force in eleven days.

The German version of the raids as broadcast by the Berlin radio was that the raiders were over France for one and one-half hours and that six of them, including "four-engined bombers," were shot down.

DANISH STATIONS GO OFF AIR

Danish radio stations went off the air shortly before 10 p.m. suggesting that R.A.F. night bombers had taken up the offensive where the daylight raiders left off. The German Deutschlandsender went off the air at 10:20 p.m.

Rennes is an important submarine centre and junction on the railroad lines running to Hitler's U-boat bases at Lorient, St. Nazaire and Brest, as well as to the port of Cherbourg. Rouen is located 150 miles

Corvette Sunk by Enemy Torpedo Near Gibraltar

Weyburn Second Canadian Escort Vessel Lost in Mediterranean

OTTAWA, March 8 (CP).—Sinking of a second Canadian corvette in Mediterranean waters, the Weyburn, was announced tonight by Navy Minister Macdonald. Seven lives were lost.

As two of the seventeen corvettes, whose dispatch to the Mediterranean was disclosed last Autumn, have been credited with sinking an enemy submarine apiece, their score with the enemy is even. The warships were sent to that area in connection with the Allied operations in North Africa.

Sixty-three of the crew survived the explosion which destroyed the Weyburn in the Gibraltar area. The blast was at first attributed to a mine, said a navy statement. Later, however, Allied planes reported sighting a submarine in the vicinity and it was presumed that the Weyburn had been torpedoed, although the statement did not specify. Date of the sinking was not announced.

The other corvette lost in the Mediterranean, the Louisburg, was sunk by air attack—the first Canadian warship to be destroyed by aerial action in the war. This sinking, which cost thirty-eight lives, was announced by Mr. Macdonald on February 16.

Lieut.-Cmdr. Thomas M. W. Golby of the Royal Canadian Reserve, officer commanding the corvette, was one of those listed as "missing, presumed killed in action." He comes from Cadboro Bay, Victoria, B.C. The other officer lost was Sub-Lieut. Wilfred Bark, of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, from Montreal.

Rating lost were Stoker Maurice A. Savoie, of Toronto, who died in hospital at Gibraltar of blast injuries; Leading Stoker R. S. Hall, of Outremont, Que.; Stoker M. C. Morrison, of Toronto; A.B. W. H. Shelley, Calgary, and O.S. Daniel Tansey, on loan from the Royal Navy.

INJURED RATINGS IN GIBRALTAR HOSPITAL

Six ratings injured are in the Military Hospital at Gibraltar five described as "dangerously" and one as "seriously" injured. One rating Stoker P.O. J. T. Baxter, of Penetanguishene, Ont., first listed among survivors, later was listed as "dangerously ill."

Lieut.-Cmdr. Golby, thirty-seven, was a merchant ship officer before the war, serving as chief officer for the British Yukon Navigation Co., and sailing out of Vancouver. While his home is at Cadboro Bay, near Victoria, his wife and one daughter have been living at Halifax recently. He joined the navy a month after the outbreak of war and took command of the Weyburn in November, 1941.

Sub-Lieut. Bark was twenty-one years old and the youngest officer on the ship. He trained at Montreal

Hot Debate at Ottawa Over Extravagance

Premier Insists Any Charges Be Specific

OTTAWA, March 8 (CP).—During a heated debate in the House of Commons this afternoon, Prime Minister Mackenzie King declared he would support demand for an investigation by any member who would make, on his own responsibility, any charges of Government extravagance.

But, he added, the charges would have to be made by the member and not merely on the basis of published reports of allegations by a public office, allegations which had not been proven correct.

Members hotly debated an Opposition demand to have the public accounts committee examine all expenditures up to the end of February, and call Col. John Thompson, director of Government Economy Control.

Speaker Glen's ruling against the Opposition move to amend Mr. King's motion to submit the auditor-general's report for the year ended March 31, 1942, to the public accounts committee, brought a recorded division in which the Speaker was sustained, seventy-eight to forty.

There are many heated exchanges and demands for withdrawal of statements, some of them involving the Prime Minister, accompanied by Opposition claims that the Government was seeking to avoid full investigation of its spending.

Germans and French Fight Battle in Streets of Paris

Over Score of Nazi Officers Killed At Lille—Guerrillas Active in Balkans

LONDON, March 8 (CP).—A battle in the streets of Paris between German sentries and French patriots, the killing of twenty-three German officers by guerrillas at Lille and four attacks on Nazi-occupied buildings during the last three days were reported tonight by the Fighting French.

A wave of unrest was reported sweeping France as the Gestapo and Vichy police attempted to round up 400,000 French workers to fulfill Chief of Government Pierre Laval's promises to Hitler.

The street fighting was said to have occurred in the Rue de Laberde when guerrillas overpowered corner sentries and seized a German garage in which they destroyed all vehicles and set the building afire. The report said the garage was held for more than an hour before the fire despite a determined attack.

Two hundred French citizens, many of them women, have been arrested after serious riots in Lyon and Marseille regions when they tried to stop trains that were taking French workers to Germany, the Dakar radio reported Monday.

The Gestapo and army had to scatter the demonstrators, said the broadcast, recorded by C.B.S. in New York. The radio said Frenchmen who escaped into Switzerland provided the information.

The Morocco radio reported increased guerrilla activity from the Balkans.

Yugoslav patriots were said to have killed 1,580 Italians and taken 1,000 others prisoner in recent battles.

The same radio said it had been confirmed that the Italians were forced to give up all administrative posts in Greece to the Germans.

A spokesman for Gen. Charles de Gaulle regarded a report first broadcast by the Algiers radio on February 12 saying twenty-three German officers had been killed in Lille. The announcement tonight, however, amplified the earlier report by saying it was the work of French guerrillas who tossed grenades into the Lille Casino.

Paratroops Receive Wings

PORT BENNING, Ga., March 8 (CP).—Members of the final graduating class of the first Canadian parachute battalion to be trained at Fort Benning received their wings here from Brig.-Gen. George P. Howell, commandant of the parachute school at this United States Army post.

The graduating class included: From British Columbia—Pte. R. Cullen; Jerry, J. J. Klassen, Armstrong.

Before the exercises, the Canadians made their first mass jump, thirty-six of the men bailing out of three transports. They were led by their own commanding officer, Lt.-Col. G. P. P. Bradbrooke, formerly of Regina and Saskatoon.

The Canadians will go from Fort Benning to Camp Shilo, Manitoba, where a parachute troop training school has been established.

Duce Prepares For Evacuation

LONDON, March 9 (Tuesday) (CP).—The Daily Mail said in an Ankara dispatch today that Mussolini had mobilized a "Dunkerque fleet" of small boats ready to evacuate the entire civilian population of Sicily in anticipation of collapse of Axis defences in Tunisia.

Commander of Lost Corvette Former Victorian

Prominent in Football And Yachting Circles

Missing and believed killed in action following the sinking in the Mediterranean of H.M.C.S. Weyburn, Lieut.-Cmdr. Thomas Maitland Wake Golby, R.C.N.R., was a well-known Victorian, having lived here a large part of his life, his home being at Cadboro Bay. As a young man he played Rugby football with the Wanderers and was a member of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

The son of Mrs. T. Golby and the late Thomas Golby, Lieut.-Cmdr. Golby was born in Sussex, England, thirty-seven years ago. He came to Victoria as a young lad and was educated at St. Michael's and Shawnigan Lake Schools.

At the age of fourteen, young Golby went to England and trained for a sea career aboard the training ship H.M.S. Conway, where he graduated with honors, which entitled him to undergo a further six months' training with the Royal Navy.

Returning to Victoria aboard the S.S. Princess Marguerite, he served for some time as a junior officer on the triangle run and later served on Canadian Pacific ships in the trans-Pacific service. In 1933 he joined the White Pass & Yukon Navigation Company. He was with this company when war broke out and joined the Canadian Navy shortly after. He served at Esquimalt, then at Halifax and came back to Esquimalt for the purpose of taking special courses and completing these, was given command of the Weyburn in 1941.

Up until the time the Weyburn was dispatched to the Mediterranean in connection with the landing operations of United States fighting men, Commander Golby had been employed on Atlantic convoy duties.

Charges Neglect in Allowing Vermilion Oil Wells to Close

EDMONTON, March 8 (CP).—E. E. Roper (C.C.F., Edmonton), speaking in the budget debate, said in the Alberta Legislature tonight that all wells in the Vermilion oil field now have closed down and charged the Government with neglect of its duty in not stepping in and taking over the wells to keep them in production.

"A million gallons of oil have been kept out of use of this country because of a price quibble between a private concern, which has a monopoly control of the output of the field, and a publicly-owned railroad," he said.

"It is criminal neglect of public duty for a Government which has control over the natural resources of this province to stand off and allow the flow of oil to be stopped when the nation needs oil so badly."

BULLETINS

ALERT IN SWITZERLAND

LONDON, March 9 (Tuesday) (CP).—Zurich, Switzerland, had an air raid alert at 11:30 last night, Reuter's News Agency reported early today.

RAID GERMANY AGAIN

LONDON, March 9 (Tuesday) (CP).—R.A.F. bombers were over Germany again last night after a two-night lull, the British announced today. The raid came as a swift follow-up to a smashing attack by American Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers on the key railway points of Rennes and Rouen in France yesterday.

TO RELEASE PRISONERS

ALGIERS, March 8 (CP).—The semi-official French news agency France Afrique reported from Dakar today that all persons arrested in French West Africa for De Gaullist or pro-Allied sympathies have been released on orders of Gen. Henri Giraud, French African High Commissioner. Similar moves have been carried out in Algeria and Morocco.

E-BOAT DESTROYED

LONDON, March 8 (CP).—The Admiralty announced tonight that a German E-boat was destroyed and others were scattered early today in an encounter with light forces of the Royal Navy. The enemy was encountered by a patroling destroyer which chased the E-boats eastward into the arms of light coastal forces which engaged them. The enemy fled, but later one E-boat was found stopped and down by the bow. She blew up and sank when hit by gunfire. There were no British casualties and only superficial damage, a communique said.

Rommel's Assaults Turned Into Retreat by Britain's Eighth Army Tank Corps

Ninety-Two Survivors Liquidated

Clearing Japanese From New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, March 9 (Tuesday) (CP).—Ninety-two Japanese survivors of the twenty-two-ship convoy smashed off New Guinea have been killed or captured on New Guinea and Goodenough Island, Allied Headquarters reported today.

The communique also reported the loss of an Allied merchant ship in Oro Bay, New Guinea, yesterday. The vessel was sunk by Japanese bombers.

The communique described the ship as "small," and the enemy's blow cost him one medium bomber and one Zero fighter, both of which were shot down by Allied intercepting fighters which dispersed the attacking force of nine bombers and thirteen fighters.

Allied aircraft, meantime, were active over a wide area of the South-west Pacific.

A heavy reconnaissance plane attacked an enemy cargo ship in the harbor at Bobo, evading two Zero fighters which attempted interception.

In the Tanimbari Islands a heavy unit bombed the town of Saumlaki, while long-range fighters attacked the airdrome at Fuiloro on the Island of Timor shortly after dawn, destroying enemy aircraft on the ground and strafing enemy personnel.

"Nearby enemy-occupied villages were machine-gunned," the communique said.

Of the Japanese survivors of the Bismarck Sea battle, the communique said:

"Fifty-seven enemy survivors drifted ashore on the coast of New Guinea from the enemy convoy which was sunk in the Bismarck Sea battle. All were killed or captured.

"In addition, a party of forty-two enemy survivors, drifting ashore at Waibula on Goodenough Island, were attacked by our ground patrols. Thirty-four were killed, three captured; five who escaped are being pursued."

Reject Proposal For Strike

GLACE BAY, N.S., March 8 (CP).—Two of the largest United Mine Workers of America locals in Nova Scotia—Phalen and Victory locals here—tonight rejected a proposal that operations be suspended in twelve Cape Breton collieries Thursday unless the miners receive more butter and other commodities.

The proposed strike was recommended by a conference of delegates from the twelve locals yesterday. The locals have a combined membership of about 10,000 men.

The total membership of Phalen and Victory locals represents about 20 per cent of the men employed in Dominion Coal Company's Cape Breton pits.

NAMED DEPUTY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, March 8 (AP).—Brig.-Gen. Everett S. Hughes, fifty-seven, today was named by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to be deputy American theatre commander in North Africa in charge of administrative work of American forces. Hughes was appointed deputy chief of staff of European theatre operations last October 17.

"Round One" Over and Won by Montgomery—Axis Losses Heavy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, March 8 (AP).—The defeat by the British Eighth Army of a series of six assaults by Marshal Rommel in Southern Tunisia, and the recapture by the Allies of the initiative in the northern sector where several local gains were made, were announced today.

Rommel's first serious attacks against Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's veterans in front of the Axis-held Mareth line had been broken with considerable losses for him—the Allied communique announced that in actions of Saturday thirty-three enemy tanks were destroyed without loss of a single British tank—and by yesterday afternoon both his tanks and infantry had been forced to retreat to the north and northwest of Medienine.

"Round one is over," said an Allied military informant, "and round one has been won by the Eighth Army."

The small advances made by the Allies in the North were not described in detail by the Allied Command.

AMERICAN PATROLS WITHDRAW TO WEST

At Pichon, American patrols withdrew to the West to avoid heavy Axis fire from the hills north and south of the town.

French forces were reported in a French communique broadcast by the Algiers radio and recorded by The Associated Press to have occupied the town of Redeyef, above the Chott Rharsa, twelve miles east of the Algerian frontier, and about thirty miles west of Gafsa.

Heavy Allied air action continued. Aside from participating strongly in the attacks that drove Rommel back in the South, Allied airmen reported the destruction of an aggregate of fifteen Axis planes.

The Axis-held port of Sousse was heavily raided, bombers hitting a big ship and casting explosives down upon the quays, warehouses and railroad yards, while in the Mediterranean eight other Axis vessels were hit.

TWO AXIS SHIPS SUNK

In the first attack on the enemy convoy, which was strongly escorted by warships and planes, one ship was sunk, another was left sinking and three more were set aflame. Five escorting enemy planes were shot down. Three and a half hours later, heavy Allied bombers returned

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published on The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, March 8.—Battles in Tunisia on the Axis side are governed by Rommel's attempts to postpone the threat of Allied landings on the Continent, says The Times in an analysis of the North African war situation.

Though the Germans obtain reinforcements and 1,000 men daily by air they are already outnumbered three to one. Once divided, Allied forces can be concentrated against the enemy, complete conquest of Tunisia is inevitable.

Rommel's efforts have been directed toward attacking the Allied forces in turn before they could merge. He has failed, however, to strike hard enough and now both British and Americans are back in their original positions while the Nazis have lost heavily.

Rommel's attack from the Mareth Line was only delaying action at best. He can as little afford to fight to a finish in Southern Tunisia as he can let the Eighth Army pass quickly through the narrow gap covered by the Mareth defences.

Brilliant actions have been fought by the British First Army causing Von Arnim's plans to be ruined. These actions, says The Times' correspondent in Tunisia, will in all probability be regarded as the turning point of the whole Tunisian campaign. Nazis hoped to cripple the First Army before the Eighth could reach it. But the plan failed because the over-stretched British lines were held with desperate gallantry by English troops, especially the famous Hampshire Regiment, which stood off overwhelming forces of the enemy for an entire day.

Spitfires and Hurricane bombers played a big part in these battles, attacking enemy tanks repeatedly. British artillery was remarkably good and Churchill tanks intimidated enemy troops. When these tanks attacked 1,000 Germans unexpectedly, enemy soldiers panicked and threw away their rifles. Two hundred were killed.

Nazis are hurriedly retreating in the Rzhev region, abandoning what has become for them a highly dangerous salient; the Red Army, pressing towards the strategically important centre of Nikitinka, is well on the way to Smolensk. The capture of Gzhatsk was another brilliant feat of the Red Army's wall of steel, which moved forward until the Nazis' first lines of defence were broken.

Harris Urges Rationing of Civilian Travel in Canada

OTTAWA, March 8 (CP).—Rationing of civilian travel on Canadian railways was urged in the House of Commons today by Joseph Harris (Progressive Conservative, Toronto Danforth), in a speech prepared for delivery in the budget debate as financial critic for his party.

Priority in railway travel facilities must be given to those in uniform so they can see their relatives while on leave, Mr. Harris said. In freight transit, right-of-way must be given to essential services and food supplies, with curtailment of the transport of non-essentials.

Although the budget made provision for expenditures on a scale never before known, Mr. Harris said, the Canadian people were capable of greater achievements.

The measures proposed by the Government would have little effect in checking "the carnival living and spend-thrift tendencies of many of our people who have incomes not previously accustomed to."

Mr. Harris said the Government had failed to bring about capacity production for war purposes, and that the shifts in output from non-essential to essential industry were not fast enough.

In manpower policies, the Dominion lacked equality of sacrifice and service, and the driving force was missing.

A floor based on a reasonable standard of living and the cost of efficient production should be ensured all Canadians, with a ceiling maintained over the economic structure so that monopolies would be controlled and taxed to help maintain the floor.

"I urge the Government to give attention to the problem of bootlegging immediately, before it gets out of hand. Curtail liquor profiteering

Tremors of Earth Felt In Ontario

Houses Sway, Dishes Rattle During Night

TORONTO, March 8 (CP).—Fleeting earth tremors, varying in intensity and lasting from five to ten seconds, rumbled through Western Ontario late tonight, swaying houses, rattling crockeryware and awakening sleeping residents.

Little if any damage was caused by the disturbance, which was reported from London, Ont.; Hamilton, Brantford, Dutton and other Western Ontario points. It did little more than startle residents and touch off a flood of telephone calls into police headquarters and newspaper offices.

Reports of the tremors also came from New York State, Eastern Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

In Toronto, houses shook and a number of persons were awakened from their sleep. Others reported hearing what they took to be an explosion and still others thought a truck had "rumbled past the doorway."

At Dutton, near London, two residents were reported to have been tossed out of their beds by the tremors. The shock was perhaps most severe at Brantford, where The Brantford Expositor Building swayed for approximately thirty seconds. No damage was reported.

But, for intensity, tonight's disturbance had little in common with the last major earthquake felt in this district in 1935. That quake, rocking the whole of Eastern Canada, twisted railway tracks in Western Quebec and tore a long hole in the ground. It was ascribed to what now is known as the "Temiskaming fault," an underground fissure near the Northwestern Quebec town of Temiskaming.

Aircraft Missing On the Island

An R.C.A.F. low-wing monoplane with single engine, known to have been in difficulty in the vicinity of Cowichan Lake at 3:15 p.m. on Saturday, has not returned to its base, a West Coast air officer announced yesterday.

He asked that anyone observing an aircraft in distress at the time and date reported, communicate immediately with the British Columbia Police.

Build Roads When Labor Is Available

Sum of $10,000,000 To Be Spent in B.C.

Immediately labor and materials are available the Government proposes to undertake projects to be financed by the new $15,000,000 loan bill, Premier John Hart told the Legislature last night.

The Premier spoke during discussion of the bill, which was given third reading. Thirteen other bills were dealt with, and only two of these gave rise to discussion. One was an act to permit females over eighteen years to be employed in the surface operations of any mine or metallurgical plant in British Columbia; the other provided for the settlement of differences between the Dominion and Provincial Governments respecting staking for minerals on Indian reserves in the province.

Referring to the $15,000,000 loan bill, which provides for the spending of $10,000,000 for highways, bridges and wharves, and of $5,000,000 for public buildings, Premier Hart, replying to questions, said that he expected it would be some time before required materials would be available because of war priorities.

FINANCIAL POSITION IS DISCUSSED

The Government's position in borrowing the money was inquired into by Harold Winch, Leader of the C.C.F. Opposition, and its ability to repay was questioned by T. D. Pattullo (Liberal, Prince Rupert). Grant MacNeil (C.C.F., Vancouver-Burrard) asked that the Government introduce a clause into the bill to give authority to take into consideration and to deal with other activities to introduce a balanced rehabilitation programme.

Mr. MacNeil explained that he was not urging large expenditures but he hoped the Government would undertake a research programme to make available accurate information for the production of electrical power and the co-ordination of rehabilitation work after the war.

Mr. Winch asked the Premier if the Government had the power to cover financing by special warrant.

News From Russia Accurate Says Associated Press Chief

Sources of Information Are Exceptionally Trustworthy, Moscow Bureau Head Declares

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—The news you read about the Soviet Union is as accurate as any that can be given from a great country at war. I have been asked repeatedly, since my return to New York: Can we believe the Moscow stories?

For The Associated Press Bureau and, I think, for the rest of the press corps in Moscow, I can say that the correspondents are satisfied that their reports are substantially reliable.

The sources of information are exceptionally trustworthy. They are the Soviet press, official communiques and eyewitness observation.

The single greatest source is the newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda, or Red Star, official organ of the Commissariat of Defence and circulated mostly for the Red Army.

Red Star carries brief dispatches from its own correspondents on current action and long, instructive articles by high officers on military problems. These writers are not trying to fool their own men. Their reports are invariably accurate.

TWO OTHER PRINCIPAL PAPERS

Pravda, organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, and Izvestia, organ of the Supreme Soviet, are the other principal newspapers. They have official backing for what they say.

This Winter the communiques have consisted of a page, listing points recaptured by the Red Army, and several pages of details on individual operations. There is no case known to Moscow correspondents of a false Soviet claim to capture of any point.

When German counter-attacks have resulted in recapture of points, the Soviet authorities do not make misleading statements about such action but usually lapse into silence on that operation. Such silences are understood by the Russian people.

During the Battle of Moscow, I had an opportunity to check on figures given by the communique, which estimated 750 German vehicles were destroyed along the road to Volokolamsk. Driving down that road, I counted more than 1,000 wrecked tanks, trucks and cars.

"LOOK WHAT HAPPENED TO HITLER"

I asked a Red Army officer why the figure had been underestimated, and he replied: "Hitler overestimates, and look what happened to him."

Figures on enemy casualties, however, sometimes seem to correspondents to be overestimated. This was particularly so early in the war, when German losses were estimated at 1,000,000 a month, at a time when the Red Army was retreating. Now that the Russians are advancing, and they have more opportunity to confirm their estimates, correspondents consider the figures more reliable.

Repair of Cemeteries Tribute to Country, Asserts LeBourdais

By voting sufficient funds to repair old cemeteries throughout the Province, the Government would be doing a service to the country, Louis LeBourdais (Lib., Cariboo) declared in the Legislature yesterday.

"Many of these are the last resting places of pioneers who built Victoria and other cities of British Columbia, and some of them were in existence before Confederation," Mr. LeBourdais said. "It is particularly appropriate that something should be done to improve Victoria cemeteries this year when the city celebrates its centenary.

"There are other graves in Colonial British Columbia that are in need of repair, among them the cemetery at Stanley, on Lightning Creek, the old burying-place at Quesnel Forks, and the old cemetery at Barkerville. In these cemeteries lie the remains of some of the finest men who ever came to this country. Mostly they are the graves of young men.

"Perhaps I should let other members speak for their own, but I think the Government would be doing a service to this country by voting sufficient funds, even in times like these, to put these old cemeteries in shape."

Mr. LeBourdais thanked the Public Works Department for its action in voting $300 for repairs to the old cemetery at Barkerville, which he described as a national monument.

TO BORROW HUGE SUM

OTTAWA, March 8 (CP).—Canada is expected to borrow $192,831,000 from the Bank of Canada and $790,000,000 from chartered banks during the current fiscal year, Finance Minister Ilsley said tonight in a reply tabled in the Commons for Arthur Slaght (Lib., Parry Sound).

FORMER STAR DEAD

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—Alice Nielsen, sixty-eight, former soprano star of the Metropolitan opera, who sang with the late Enrico Caruso, died today at her home here after an illness of several years. She was a native of Nashville, Tenn.

Increase in Pay Is Asked For B.C. Police

Doing Fine Work, Says C.C.F. Member

Higher salaries and improved accommodation for Provincial Police were urged by Herbert Gargrave (C.C.F., Mackenzie) during a discussion of the Attorney-General's Department estimates for the coming year in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

"I suggest that the Attorney-General go to the Minister of Finance and try to get him to increase the salary scale of all Provincial Police," said the member for Mackenzie.

Mr. Gargrave's proposal came after Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., Attorney-General, had described conditions under which police worked in various parts of the province. He said he was keenly interested in their welfare and, despite restrictions imposed by the war, was working hard to improve accommodations, particularly in outlying districts.

WOULD DISCOURAGE MEMBERS OF FORCE

Housing accommodation in the more remote areas was bad, Mr. Gargrave agreed. It was inevitable, he believed, that this condition would discourage all the older members of the force and would work against recruiting.

Praising members of the force for their ability and efficiency, although boyhood experiences in London, England, had not disposed him favorably toward policemen in general, Mr. Gargrave explained, he said he was amazed that the department is able to hold such highly competent men at so low a salary scale.

He was opposed, he said, to "that old hangover of feudalism, that members of the force should have to buy themselves out of a job if they want to quit."

SEES CONNECTION WITH INCOME TAX

Former Premier T. D. Pattullo, K.C., said that a discussion of police salaries was closely tied up with the question of the income tax, on which he was attempting to obtain a statement of policy from the Government.

"The whole trouble," Mr. Pattullo insisted, "is that we have more bread than butter to spread on it. If we had retained the right to collect the Provincial income tax we would have nearly $30,000,000 instead of about $12,000,000 with which to carry on our various services. This ought to impress upon us the need to preserve our rights in the income tax field."

Mrs. Steeves asked that increased Government assistance be given to credit unions, which, she said, would play an important part in postwar reconstruction.

G. F. Stirling (C.C.F., Salmon Arm) objected to the vote for $11,000 for game birds on the ground that they destroyed farmers' crops.

After some further discussion, the estimates for the Attorney-General's Department, totalling $2,054,643, were passed without dissent.

and King's College, Halifax. Before going in the navy he was a clerk.

Savoie, a native of Charlo Restigouche, N.B., was well known in Kapuskasing, Ont., and served for four months as a private in the Royal Canadian Engineers before joining the navy.

The loss of six Canadians aboard the Weyburn brought to 840 the total number of Canadians officially reported dead or missing by the navy since the war began.

One of the surviving officers was Lieut. Patrick S. Milsom, R.C.N.V.R., of Toronto, a member of the 1936 Canadian Olympic swimming team and a nephew of Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, the well-known cartoonist. The others are Lieut. William A. B. Garrard, forty-five, R.C.N.V.R., of Victoria, executive officer, and Lieut. George H. Doty, thirty-nine, R.C.N.R., of Yarmouth, N.S.

Two Canadian ships—the corvettes Port Arthur and Ville de Quebec—have been officially credited with the sinking of a German and an Italian U-boat in the Western Mediterranean. The Weyburn was the twelfth warship of all classes lost by the navy since the war began.

Other corvette losses are the Louisburg, with thirty-eight lives; the Levis with eighteen, Windflower, with twenty-three; Spikenard, with fifty-seven, and Charlottetown, with nine.

Three destroyers have been lost—the Fraser, with forty-five lives; the Margaree, with 142, and the Ottawa, with 113.

The mine sweeper Bras d'Or was lost, believed by storm, with thirty men; the patrol ship Raccoon was lost with thirty-eight men and the patrol ship Otter caught fire off Halifax and went down with nineteen men.

LIST OF CASUALTIES SUFFERED WITH SHIP

Following is the list of casualties to Canadian personnel suffered in the sinking in the Mediterranean of the Canadian corvette Weyburn:

Ratings—Missing, presumed killed in action: Leading Stoker Richard Stanley Hall, Outremont, Que.; Stoker (1st Class) Melvin Clarence Morrison, Lion's Head, Ont.; A.B. William Henry Shelley, Calgary. O.S. Daniel Tanzey, on loan to the Canadian Navy from the Royal Navy, also was reported in the navy's announcement as having been killed in action.

Stanley John King, Carbon, Alta.; A.B. Dorn McQuarrie McGaw, Kincardine, Ont.; O.S. Anthony Herman Merkowski, Prince Albert, Sask.; A.B. Hubert William Parsons, Toronto. Night Air Raid northeast of Rennes and is on the main line between Paris and Le Havre.

A communique issued jointly by United States Army Air Force headquarters and the Air Ministry said the bombers attacked Rennes "successfully" despite strong enemy opposition and overcame "very strong" fighter opposition to bomb their objectives at Rouen.

Flyers returning from Rennes estimated that forty to fifty enemy planes were in the unusually heavy force they encountered as they approached the target.

MOSQUITOS ATTACK RAILWAY TARGETS

Meanwhile, speedy Mosquito bombers attacked railway targets at Lingen in Northwest Germany and at Aulnoye near Valenciennes and Tergnier in Northern France late this afternoon, an Air Ministry communique reported. It said bursts were seen on all the objectives and that one bomber failed to return.

German bombers dumped high explosives on counties surrounding London in darkness early today, giving the city its second alert in a week, but only one plane appeared over the city itself. Bombs also were dropped at points in Southern and Southeastern England in the early morning hours. Only a small number of casualties was reported in all sectors.

Three of the German raiders were shot down, including a four-motored Heinkel-177, a rarity over Britain.

Capt. Harold Balfour, Undersecretary of State for Air, speaking before a crowd at Trafalgar Square in London's "Wings for Victory" campaign to raise war savings for aircraft to maintain an all-out offensive against the Axis, declared:

"Today we occupy half the German air force and the whole of the Italian air force. This is very substantial help to our Russian allies."

HOTEL, BANK, STORE BOMBED

Fifteen or more German Focke-Wulf 190's raided a southeast coast town Sunday, causing casualties with machine-gunning and bombing and scoring hits on a large hotel, bank and a store. Fighter-bombers also struck a south coast town, causing casualties and damage.

Two of the raiders were shot down.

These attacks followed offensive sweeps over the Channel by Allied fighter squadrons which stirred up a storm of anti-aircraft fire which could be heard at Folkestone, Kentish seaport. It appeared to come from the direction of Calais.

The great R.A.F. offensive, which had pounded Europe every night since February 24 until Saturday, was halted briefly during Saturday night but was resumed with the Sunday daylight raids.

KOOTENAY PIONEER DEAD

KAMLOOPS, B.C., March 8 (CP).—Asa Carl (Ace) Mesker, eighty-eight, Kootenay pioneer, is dead. A retired Canadian Pacific Railway conductor, he served on the Nelson-Midway run for twenty-three years.

Here's Quick Relief from
SINUS PAIN
3-Purpose Medicine Helps Clear Out Congested Sinus Areas

ONE best way to get relief from torturing sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

3-PURPOSE MEDICINE

Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps clear out pain-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many sinus sufferers say it's best relief they've found. Try it!

front, the midnight communique reported that a Soviet guard unit captured strongly-fortified enemy positions, wiping out a battalion of German infantry in one engagement.

But the greatest danger for the Germans appeared to lie at the moment on the central front.

Vyazma lies only 150 miles from Smolensk, the German pivotal base feeding the central, northwestern and Leningrad fronts. Smolensk appears to be the ultimate Soviet objective of this their ninth offensive since November 19.

FURIOUS TANK BATTLE IN SOUTH

Farther south in the mud bogs of the Donets Basin, a furious tank battle was reported raging in the region southwest of Voroshilovgrad, where the Germans have claimed recent successes.

In one section the Germans hurled fifty tanks into battle, but the Russians said they destroyed a dozen, plus a battalion of 800 infantrymen and chased the others into retreat.

The Germans threw two infantry battalions into an assault to capture one populated place south of Voroshilovgrad, the midnight communique said, but were beaten back with 180 officers and men killed by a counter-attack.

The Germans, for their part, claimed success in a tank battle west of Kharkov in which the High Command asserted seventy-four of ninety attacking Russian tanks were demolished. The propaganda agency, Transocean, amplified this into an assertion that the Nazis had stormed to within twelve miles of the great Ukrainian city.

The Germans also said the Russians were attacking "time and again" in the Orel sector around that hinge of the central and southern fronts which the Russians have partially encircled. The Berlin account said Marshal Timoshenko's northwestern offensive, pointed at Staraya Russa in the Lake Ilmen sector 110 miles south of Leningrad, was proceeding with undiminished intensity.

SLIGHT MIX-UP

POWELL RIVER, March 8 (CP).—Red-faced A.R.P. members are still searching for boys who started a grass fire twenty minutes before the scheduled district-wide A.R.P. test Sunday. As wardens and first-aid workers waited for the alert signal they mistook the fire siren for the air raid alarm. In spite of the early start the test was reported successful.

Centenary of City Marked By Dr. Sexton

Special Service Is Well Attended

A special service of thanksgiving in commemoration of the centenary of the City of Victoria was largely attended Sunday morning at Christ Church Cathedral. The address was delivered by Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, D.D., Bishop of British Columbia, who took as his theme the text "One soweth and another reapeth." St. John iv, 37.

Those present at the services included Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. W. C. Woodward, members of the Cabinet and the Legislature, the Mayor and City Council members, representatives of the city School Board, B.C. Historical Association, I.O.D.E. and the Hudson's Bay Company, Mayor J. W. Cornett, of Vancouver, and officers of the navy, army and air force.

A squad of uniformed nurses from the Royal Jubilee Hospital also attended, and during the service an offering was taken on behalf of the hospital.

COLLECTION FOR JUBILEE HOSPITAL

Looking backward for the last 100 years, Bishop Sexton said that the spirit of the pioneer, their vigor, courage, self-reliance and endurance evoke admiration as "like the great accuser, throws into relief the exceptional qualities of our parents."

"Believing in the dignity and greatness of the future they laid foundations large and worthy, nor was their vision limited to things material," asserted Dr. Sexton.

Tracing the course of the development of the Church of England, Bishop Sexton said that it was exactly 100 years ago that the first C. of E. register was brought here, when the Hudson's Bay Company moved its headquarters from Fort Vancouver to Fort Victoria.

FIRST CLERGYMAN CONDUCTS SERVICE

First clergyman to conduct services in the church was Rev. R. J. Staines, also chaplain for the Hudson's Bay Company. First church erected was the "original Christ Church, afterwards followed by St. John's. "The Old Iron Church" sent out from England by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who endowed the Bishopric of British Columbia.

"Completion of this noble Cathedral Church would be the most fitting way to celebrate the centenary of the city," declared Bishop Sexton. "Apart from its beauty and its climate, I believe it would be in Victoria's best interests to make this a real cathedral city—a city crowned by the goodliest and fairest cathedral in the Dominion of Canada."

The bishop discussed the construction of a new courthouse on the site of the old cathedral, and urged that "we continue our building activities as is being done in Liverpool at this present time of the King."

OBJECT OF RELIGION NOT CHURCH-GOING

The objective of religion is not church-going, the bishop said, rather it is a wholesome sign of the people's spiritual life and a powerful engine for its advancement, but not the only criterion of religious vitality.

"The citizen of today is not anti-religious," the bishop said, indicating that the very spirit of sacrifice shown by many young Victorians in the service of their country proves this.

"But nevertheless the religious life of Victoria is not satisfactory," he continued. "A great danger lies in the decay of our home life, and neglect of religious instruction for young people. We are afflicted with more than our share of backward unprogressive reactionary people who forget that man was made to grow, and that progress and enlightenment is the law of man's true being," Bishop Sexton concluded.

PLEADS GUILTY

TRAIL, March 8 (CP).—Mrs. Eva C. B. Burnham pleaded guilty in police court today of failing to sell foreign currency to an authorized dealer as required by wartime regulations. Sentence was reserved for two weeks. Mrs. Burnham admitted having more than $400 in a United States bank. Magistrate Parker Williams told accused his decision would be influenced by whether the money was transferred to Canadian funds before the case again comes up.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

NELSON, B.C., March 8 (CP).—While felling a tree, Ernest Coombes was seriously injured at Russell Jones' Pole Company's operation. Fellow workers carried the victim five miles through the woods before reaching the road and transportation to the nearest hospital.

POWELL RIVER, March 8 (CP).—Herring are running at Scuttle Bay, and on the heels of the small silver fish are coming shoals of big hungry springs. The salmon have been showing better than usual this year.

Weyburn One of Canada's Most Gallant Escort Ships

Lost Corvette Had Splendid Record During Submarine Attacks on St. Lawrence Shipping

TORONTO, March 8 (CP).—Loss of the Canadian corvette Weyburn, announced by naval headquarters today, brought to a close the career of one of Canada's most gallant little escort ships.

Nearly 200 merchant mariners owe their lives to the Weyburn's crew and more than one enemy U-boat ended her days under the depth charges of this little escort ship during submarine attacks on United Nations shipping in the St. Lawrence River and off the Canadian East Coast.

Crewmen, shortly before the Weyburn left on her last voyage, told of the gallantry of her officers during the rescue of forty-five sailors from a helpless United Nations freighter in the stormy North Atlantic.

The freighter's steering gear was gone and her engines refused to function.

During the night, waves washed away her wireless aerial and wrecked the little wireless room—the crew's last contact with the outside world.

DAWN—BUT NO SIGN OF HELP

Dawn came, but still no sign of help. During the night the waves had smashed in the galley doors, breaking dishes and putting out the fire in the stove. It meant only one thing to the crew—no more meals until help came—if it ever did.

Then the Weyburn appeared, beating her way back to port in the teeth of the mid-Atlantic gale.

Shouting to his mates on deck of the drifting ship that help was in sight, the lookout tore off his shirt and waved for all he was worth. The rest of the crew joined in, waving anything they could get their hands on. For a minute it seemed as though the Weyburn's crew hadn't seen them. The little corvette sailed by, nearly a mile off the bow.

The lookout climbed higher on the bridge and gave another frantic wave. Suddenly the Weyburn seemed to change her course—their signals had been picked up.

Suddenly the freighter lurched as crewmen watched for the Weyburn from the rail. It was now a matter of whether the Weyburn would arrive in time. The weather-beaten freighter was beginning to founder.

WEYBURN NEARLY TOPPLED OVER

Despite their fatigue, the sailors watched with admiration as the Weyburn's crew brought their craft around in the mountainous seas. The little corvette almost toppled over as she wheeled around.

Now there were less than 300 yards off the bow, but the waves were too high to come alongside to get a towline aboard. The Weyburn's skipper didn't wait for the seas to go down—he had another plan.

Ordering the crew on deck, he asked for volunteers to man the corvette's starboard lifeboat. But they came without being asked. In a few minutes the boat was over the corvette's side lashed by mountainous combers as she smashed against the Weyburn's steel sides.

Finally the orders to "cast-off" came from the bridge and the lifeboat was on its way, carried almost to the stranded freighter's side by the high waves.

Above the roar of the waves and wind, the lifeboat crew shouted to the freighter's deck to send down the injured first. At times they didn't have to help the crew over the side—the lifeboat floated level with the freighter's deck on the crest of the waves.

MADE FOUR RETURN TRIPS

Their boat filled, the Canadians started the tedious row back to the Weyburn. At times their lifeboat was filled with water, but they made the crossing and put the men aboard. Four times they made the return trip and without loss of a man.

A few minutes later the freighter sank to the bottom, her steel hull in two pieces.

Last Summer, when Axis U-boats were preying on United Nations shipping in the St. Lawrence River and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the Weyburn again distinguished herself.

During the sinking of one of the ships, the Weyburn's crew pulled alongside the struggling seamen, banking on to bits of wreckage and, despite the presence of submarines, coolly carried out their rescue work. Later, crewmen said they believed her depth charges sank one of the submarines when her direction gear picked up the hum of the U-boat's Deisels.

Gillis Denies Using Term "Foreigner"

Dr. J. J. Gillis (Lib., Yale) denied in the Legislature yesterday that he had used the word "foreigner" in reference to Colin Cameron (C.C.F., Comox) as reported in his speech on the Budget address last Thursday.

"I am reported as having called the honorable member for Comox a foreigner," said Dr. Gillis. "I deny that. I never used the word 'foreigner' and I trust I never will, to any British subject, especially to one who has risked his life in the Great War."

Mr. Cameron replied that he had not understood the honorable member for Yale to call him a foreigner and he was "surprised" to read newspaper reports to that effect.

Red Cross Visitor "Somewhere in England"

ONE of the many Canadian Red Cross functions is to make sure that no Canadian serviceman in overseas hospitals suffers from loneliness. Names of all Canadians admitted to military hospitals anywhere in Britain are turned over to the Red Cross and they, in turn, communicate with the visitors' committee in that particular area. Picture shows Sgt. H. J. Cossentine, of Penticton, B.C., receiving gifts of cigarettes and candles from a Red Cross visitor in an R.A.F. hospital somewhere in England. Over 7,000,000 articles of supplies and comforts have been given to patients in military hospitals and the armed forces by the Canadian Red Cross.

Four Members In House Urge Sunday Shows

Requested for War Workers and Troops

Provision of Sunday entertainment, particularly the opening of moving picture theatres for servicemen and war workers, was urged in the Legislature yesterday afternoon. The question was brought up by Mrs. Dorothy G. Steeves (C.C.F., North Vancouver).

"Something ought to be done to facilitate the opening of the movies on Sundays for war workers and servicemen," Mrs. Steeves told the House during a discussion of estimates of the Attorney-General's Department. "When you are in war work it sometimes appears that there is no time for you to go to shows other than on Sundays. It is harmless entertainment, and I would like to see something done about it."

Mrs. Steeves was supported by Mrs. Nancy Hodges (Liberal, Victoria City), Thomas Uphill (Labor, Fernie) and Lieut. Louis LeBourdais (Liberal, Cariboo). J. A. Paton (Conservative, Vancouver-Point Grey) spoke against the suggestion.

INNOCENT ENTERTAINMENT SAYS MR. UPHILL

Mr. Uphill saw only good accruing from Sunday opening of the theatres which, he said, would provide innocent amusement for men who soon would be fighting overseas for their country.

"I believe they should be open all day Sunday, as they are in England and south of the border. I am sure there can be no harm in letting the soldiers go in and enjoy some innocent amusement.

While Mrs. Hodges agreed in principle with this opinion, she said she would not suggest that moving picture shows should be opened all day Sunday or indiscriminately. She said it was pathetic to see boys in the services, with nowhere to go, standing around on the streets on Sundays.

"I want it clearly understood that I am not in favor of opening all shows all day Sunday for everyone, but certainly there should be entertainment for men in the services."

URGES ACTION BY ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Mr. LeBourdais said he was keenly interested in having something done in the way of Sunday entertainment. Places of amusement should be provided where men in the services could take their women friends and women in the services take their civilian friends. He said he would like to see the Attorney-General press the matter.

Mr. Paton, in standing out against Sunday entertainment through the theatres, believed that with the coming of Spring and Summer servicemen should take more interest in outdoor activities. He suggested swimming and fishing.

"I think the boys should show some initiative and learn to amuse themselves. They won't always have movies following them around wherever they go," he said.

Boston Gunning For Forwards

BOSTON, March 8 (AP).—Boston's injury-riddled Bruins tonight attempted to strengthen themselves for the National Hockey League play-offs by purchasing an entire forward line from the Providence American Hockey League Club.

Manager Art Ross announced the purchase of Ab Demarco, a centre, who had a brief tryout with Toronto Maple Leafs earlier in the season, and Wingers Oscar Aubuchon and Norman Calladine. They will serve as replacements for the injured Murph Chamberlain and Buzz Boll and also for Harvey (Busher) Jackson, who will be dropped back on defence to fill in for Jack Shewchuk, who has been called up by the Canadian Army.

Ross refused to mention the purchase price for the Providence trio.

Both Chamberlain and Boll are out with leg injuries and their chances of returning to action before the play-offs start on March 21 are rated as slim.

CLIPPERS GO UNDER

NANAIMO, March 8 (CP).—With fifteen seconds to go, Skipper Dave MacKay, of Nanaimo Clippers, pulled his goalkeeper and played five men up in an attempt to tie up a 6-5 score, with St. Regis on the long end. But the Mainlanders held their lead and won a see-saw game watched by 700 spectators.—It was an exhibition hockey game with net proceeds going to the Red Cross.

The teams stood at 1-1 at the end of the first period, MacKay scoring for Clippers, and Brayshaw for the Saints. Each team scored three in the second period, Mann, Neilson and Carr getting the counters for Nanaimo, and Blythe, Brayshaw and Martel scoring for the Saints. The only penalty of the game was in the second, when Palm was sent to the bench for two minutes for tripping Neilson.

Martel and Brayshaw scored early in the third, Dave MacKay scoring Nanaimo's fifth goal at 15:22 mark.

Boyd Robinson handled the play.

FOXX REALLY THROUGH

LEWISTON, Me., March 8 (AP).—Jimmy Foxx, one of baseball's biggest stars for more than a decade, announced today that he is definitely through with baseball.

"The Beast," as he was affectionately known by his teammates, indicated last week that he might give up the game, adding that:

"Baseball might not even start this season, let alone finish it. I'm about at the end, anyhow, and I'd better stop while I have a good job. I want to get out of baseball before I have another bad season like 1942."

Pensioners' Meeting

Disbursements from the Cheer Fund of the Victoria Aged Pensioners' Association was ordered at the association's last meeting for members who could not attend because of the weather. It was reported twenty-seven new members had been enrolled.

TIMBER SCALING FIGURES

PRINCE RUPERT, March 8 (CP).—Timber scaling in Prince Rupert forestry district during February totaled 1,609,571 board feet. Of this 186,539 was fir, 894,681 spruce, 84,340 hemlock, 4,274 balsam and 39,634 jackpine.

How It Started—

By JEAN NEWTON

FEBRUARY

Late February days, and now, at last,
Might you have thought that Winter's woe was past.
So fair the sky was and so soft the air.

—William Morris.

The days have grown longer; Jack Frost, limping on his way out, is being bid good riddance. The sky is a slender silver bell that waits to sound the knell of Winter. Spring is coming.

Put your ear to the ground; listen; those vague rumblings and gurglings that you hear are the rollings of Mother Earth's innards in the process of purification.

It was perhaps out of some such vagary that the pagan Romans named February from februare, to purify; during February, also from earliest times, Christians have celebrated the Feast of Purification of the Blessed Virgin. Saxons came to call February Sol-mon-ath, in honor of the returning sun that cleansed and healed the spirit.

Hail to February; it is the shortest month of the year, but it is long enough to include the anniversaries of two of the world's greatest exponents of human freedom and political liberty—Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

Their portraits are found in the homes of simple people in the remotest hamlets of China, Russia and the rest of the United Nations—simple souls who believe it is no accident that Lincoln and Washington were born in February and that by fighting for their ideals our souls will be purified.

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—No matter what the ball players may think of training north of the Eastman-Landis Line, there must be good news for the club owners who usually keep their fountain pens filled with red ink until the season starts. . . . Detroit's Jack Zeller, who first advocated Northern conditioning, has figured out that the Tigers must break even on training expenses for the first time since 1929, when they took down a $12,000 guarantee from Phoenix, Ariz.

There are some people who are really trying to help out the traffic situation. We know there are housewives who always make a point of shopping between 10 and 4. We've seen them catching the street cars at 3:30 or so—loaded with bundles but knowing there'll be seats on that car—knowing, too, that when they take those seats they are not making any workers stand. These housewives are playing their part. They are using the mid-afternoon cars regularly—and so leaving the peak hour cars for the workers. If you are one of these thoughtful people—thank you very much for your co-operation.

ON TUNISIAN BATTLEFRONTS

The weather is improving on the Tunisian battlefronts and the likelihood is that the day is not far distant when a major attempt will be made to drive the Axis forces out of Africa. So far the Allied armies have been in the main quiescent so far as offensive operations are concerned. Their aerial arms have, however, been very lively; the ports held by the Axis on the Tunisian coast have been heavily bombed repeatedly, the lifeline of the enemy across the brief span of the Mediterranean from Sicily to North Africa has been continuously harried by sea and air, and the marvel of the situation remains how the Axis Powers have been successful in convoying such heavy reinforcements to Tunisia and such wealth of war material as they have assembled on North African shores.

The enemy has endeavored, but with no success, to forestall the coming offensive. He attacked, via the Kassering Pass, with the object of forcing American troops out of Southern Tunisia and across the Algerian frontier. Initial gains, at some points to the extent of sixty-five miles, rewarded his first onslaught. Then, chiefly by the air power brought into action, the whole aspect was changed. The German and Italian forces were compelled to engineer a precipitate retreat, until now they are almost back on their starting lines. The Axis manoeuvre was, fairly obviously, governed by the desire to prevent an attack on the Afrika Korps from the rear, so enabling that desert army to devote all its attention to repelling General Montgomery's forces. When this manoeuvre failed Marshal Rommel himself sought to gain the initiative from his fortifications on the Mareth Line. Over the week-end he made heavy and sustained attacks on the Eighth Army. These were all repulsed and now the Empire forces, which have chased the Germans and Italians from El Alamein and liquidated the balance of the Italian empire in Africa, are again on the offensive. Their patrols are pursuing Rommel's forces into the hills which constitute a part of the Mareth defences. The first round of the battle has been won by the Imperial troops.

The latest encounters show that there is nothing in the nature of static warfare in Tunisia. Now that the weather is improving any battle of the future will be one of considerable mobility. Already, in the offensive movements undertaken by the enemy, the results have proved that the forces of the United Nations are possessed of the greater air power and that they are using it to the utmost advantage. That may well mean the decisive factor in the concluding stages of the North African campaign. The time is at hand when the British First and Eighth Armies, co-operating with the American and French troops, will strike simultaneously on land, and in the air, supported by the powerful naval forces under command of Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham. Weather alone has been the cause of the delay in operations on a grand scale. The enemy's abortive offensives have shown that he is in a state of trepidation about coming events and has sought to forestall them. The cleaning-up processes in North Africa are necessarily a preliminary to any new offensive on land on the European Continent, though there is the possibility that such an adventure is contemplated in conjunction with the final onslaught in Tunisia.

THE FUEL SUBSIDY

Daily, some people in Victoria are still struggling with a domestic fuel problem. Here it is a case of a sawdust burner, but no sawdust; there an invalid and wet wood; somewhere else again coal but nothing with which to light it. Emergency orders are still going through the control authority, and some of them are still being left unfilled for considerable periods of time. Scores of communications to this newspaper have testified to that condition, which has been supported by direct and independent investigation. This is the condition that has pertained now for some months.

In the light of that, one wonders if the new $1 per cord subsidy offered by the Dominion to fuel dealers will solve much of the problem when it has to be faced at its worse next Winter. The subsidy, plainly, has to do with price, and price is not what is holding back the adequate distribution of all types of domestic fuel, but a lack of supply. It can be argued, of course, that the subsidy will insure a supply. How will it? There are numbers of factors to be taken into account, and the dollar value of fuel is not by any means the chief one.

What British Columbia communities need is the assurance that a more realistic estimate will be made this year of the total domestic requirements of whole civilian populations. There must be a greater offset against coal for that new proportion of coal which is now feeding burners that a few months ago operated on heavy oil because the same ton of coal cannot go into two places at one time. The transferred requirements on account of oil conversions alone amounted to some 800 tons weekly in this city alone; and for the Province as a whole it is much greater.

Beyond that, wood is the staple fuel of the average home. Kitchen ranges, grate fires and furnaces operate in some cases on nothing else. Yet cordwood pettered out in all coast cities this Winter. Not sufficient supply was brought in. When one came to inquire about that, the answer usually was that the armed services were taking most of the cut wood. Perhaps in the Winter to come the armed services could help by cutting some of their own wood. It has been done before, and without much difficulty. Where tonnage, and haulage, and distribution, and price have to be taken into account, it seems too much to expect that a dollar per cord subsidy to the dealers will do it all. Now is the time to think about that, before another Winter comes.

The public does not mind inconvenience or annoyance in a good cause; but the public, likewise, should not be asked to accept shortages merely because someone has blundered. In this instance, the Dominion is purporting to control fuel. That control, then, must be based in the first instance on an adequate supply; for not again may hundreds of homes be left fuelless, in a land of unlimited fuels, without reasonable and understandable cause. It is idle to attempt to ration something that will not go around. The plain fact is, British Columbia needs more coal, more wood, and more sawdust by reason of the tens of thousands of people who have freshly been brought into our cities and towns.

CANADA'S GOOD FORTUNE

It has been Canada's good fortune so far in this war to escape the actual ravages of war in our homeland. None of our cities has been bombed, or shelled or gassed. If our populations have moved it has not been because their homes were destroyed. Food, clothing and shelter, while minor problems, have never become major ones, the subject of disaster relief. Our meals have been cooked in kitchens, and not in rolling vans. Our children have been able to play in the open air by day, without fear and without threat.

Servicemen and ex-servicemen know the other side of the picture. They know what Dover has withstood. They have followed in their mind's eye the three towns of Plymouth as they once were, and as they now are. They have read and have learned—and some have seen—the place that was Coventry, where an ancient cathedral gapes openly at the sky. They know that there are gaps on Oxford Street, Regent Street and elsewhere in the great metropolis of London; and they know what caused those gaps. With them, in short, the Canadian Red Cross drive has a personal meaning.

Because Canada, geographically so favored, has seen little or nothing of the actual incidence of modern warfare, it has been hard to explain what the Red Cross has done, and must continue to do. Picture whole families that have been bombed out, not once, but three times in succession, until all their worldly effects can be carried in a pocket handkerchief. Vision the plight of a refugee woman who has lost parents, husband and children, and stands alone in a topsy-turvy world. In some lands, hospital bandages are required by the lineal mile—what meaning has that had for Canada? Yet these are the very things that we must all take to heart.

On Saturday last the Canadian Red Cross drive in Greater Victoria had reached $54,539 in collections, leaving $35,461 then to go before the $90,000 quota is achieved. Rightly viewed, that is everybody's concern; and not merely the anxiety of some 700 voluntary workers in the campaign. We do not know, we cannot tell the express needs of this fighting year 1943. All that we do know for certain is that Canadians will be into the battle by land, by sea and in the air; there to give such an account of themselves as would do their fighting fathers credit. Whether it is in bandages, clothing, food, comforts or whatnot, we must all stand behind the men who are standing behind the guns. If you have not already found your place in the Canadian Red Cross drive, do so now; because there is a place for each individual, and every one is needed. The sum of $90,000 is required, and without fail.

MARCH, THE BLUSTERER

March was ever a blusterer. It gathers the warm sunshine and spreads it out over the land, and ladles after it icy potions of the chill North wind. It wreathes the morning seas with fog, and brings out the stars so clear and sharp by night that people can see comets with the eye unaided. Between dawn and dusk it works a dozen daily pranks, but back of this facade real change is going on. Winter yields to Spring.

March is the stop-gap month. It is neither Winter nor Spring, but a mischievous, elfin link between. It coaxes buds to grow on the terminals of tree and shrub by day, and then commands the sap to stand still by night, so that the buds cannot open. It teases the birds with a hint of green cover, and the suggestion of new harvests, but withholds its food, save where the plough has bitten deeply in the chocolate-colored soil.

As changeable as a weathervane, March calls upon all the winds by turns, and sometimes out of turn. The North wind is its darling. The North wind, with its hint of Arctic wastes and its nose-nipping pranks, is just around the corner and never far away. By day it robs the sun itself of nearly all its warmth. By night it turns the ponds to ice, and stiffens grasses standing in the meadow. Still even March, the blusterer, must go, and with its bits of every month throughout the year. Good, honest April practises few deceits, save those of the milder kind, and April carries the golden keys of Spring.

ELEGY FOR ICARUS

For my friend, Pilot Officer Robin Godfrey, killed in action, February 18, 1942.

Out of the grim sad valley of these mortal hours
Freed from the cell of close-confining earth,
He has gone forth beyond our sun and showers
To some more glorious birth!

Hardly could he abide our sluggard ways
Where swift hearts slacken, and brightest hopes fall cold;
Not his to be chained in life's middle-common days—
His was a spirit bold!

His was the heart of some tall Viking rover
Or some young captain of Elizabeth's time
Whose sword and song flashed bright, who played the lover,
Who loved the poet's rhyme!

He wore his life like a cloak whose scarlet sweep
Flashed in the answering sun and enchanted the eye;
The blade of his youth was quick and alert as the leap
Of a hawk in the morning sky.

And his voice had the peal of a trumpet that stirred the veins
Like the call of Roland that rose from the trampled grass
With a glory of summons whose throbbing echo remains,
Still haunting the Spanish Pass.

And he died as passed his comrades, the heroes of old,
Lifting the Lion-banner, in the sorest press of the fight.
And at last, when Freedom's morning breaks in a blaze of gold
Such hands will have made it bright.

Toronto —Nathaniel A. Benson

Pilot Officer Robin Godfrey was the son of Justice J. M. Godfrey of the Ontario Supreme Court.

There is a sort of natural instinct of human dignity in the heart of man which steels his very nerves not to bend beneath the heavy blows of a great adversity. The palm tree grows best beneath a ponderous weight, even so the character of man. There is no merit in it, it is a law of psychology. The petty pangs of small daily cares have often bent the character of men, but great misfortunes seldom. There is less danger in this than in great good luck.—Kossuth.

COMMON AND UNCOMMON MEN

Maybe this is going to be the century of the common man, but it won't be without more uncommon men.

The common man is important because there are so many of him. He has gotten a number of things through the mess. One of them is that war is a sin and a shame. He believes this whether his name is John Smith, Jacques Duval or Johann Schmidt. He he fighting, on all fronts, with dogged fortitude because he feels that it is a matter of personal and national survival. But he thinks less than nothing of the political leadership that got the world into this mess by doing too much or by doing too little.

Without ever having studied David Ricardo or John Maynard Keynes, and as ignorant of Karl Marx as he is of Tang dynasty ceramics, the common man has nevertheless heard it whispered that what with inventions, technology, and the transmutation of elements, there's enough on this earth for everybody if everybody works just a little, and steadily. This is a highly explosive idea. Since the beginning of time, the common man stood with his hat in his hand before his "betters", because he had a hunch there wasn't enough for everybody, and so one had better stand in with the prosperous.

But he has smelt goods withheld from the market—capital-"freezing" to avoid risk; manufacturers organizing to maintain "price." Governments ordering food ploughed under. To the common man this is nonsense. He doesn't know how to solve "the economic problem," but he can and will blow up the world if it is not solved.

PRETTY IN POETRY

The common man has heard the words, "economy of abundance," and the words are the prettiest poetry ever uttered. Furthermore, he believes they are not a fairy tale. They could come true.

Coming true would mean a world where you could have a room of your own, constant hot water, three square meals a day, a good mattress at night, and fun on the side, 365 days in the year and a ripe old age.

The common man is a sexual animal. He wants to court a nice little wren, marry her with a wedding picture taken, settle down and have two boys and a girl, send them to school in neat shoes and socks, cute hats and coats, and have them look up to a ma, who seems "young enough to be their sister," and a dad who never has to announce that he's out of a job and the party's over.

The common man has an ego, highly developed in a century of democracy. He's got the idea that he doesn't have to be pushed around and you may as well say mister. If you want to push him around you have to pretend he's a fellow-member of a master race, and you're only pushing him so that he in turn can push someone else. This appeals—but only briefly. That's why the Nazi revolution fizzled quicker than the Nazi war.

But the common man—and here's the rub—doesn't know by what processes of statesmanship and organization he can achieve these things. He's written the ticket, but he cannot write the programme. For that he is looking to uncommon men.

TOO MANY OF THEM

Too many uncommon men are no use for this purpose.

There are the uncommon men who are strong individualists. Their glands and survival instincts work fine; they always come to the top in any sort of society. They are the speculators who are always one jump ahead of the times or the market. They are given to making speeches on the theme that if others were just like them, everything would be fine. If many others were just like them everything would, of course, be perfectly terrible, and there would be no organized society at all.

There are uncommon men who know how to exploit the honest yearnings and credulous faith of the common man for their own personal power. They have existed in all times, from the Greek demagogues, through Aaron Burr to Hitler and Huey Long.

They often get long pages in history by holding up history.

Finally, there are the uncommon men, who driven by a sense of their commonality with common men, feel their responsibility to do something for the race to which they belong. They are possessed by the passion to preserve and improve society. Sometimes they are cranks, but more often the other uncommon men try to do away with them by calling them cranks.

Such a man was Jesus, St. Thomas Aquinas, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, Sun Yat Sen and Lenin.

Sometimes they are crucified. But they are always recognized by the common man, sooner or later. Such an uncommon man is the alter ego of millions of common men. They know him to be of them, and eventually they make him their own, [illegible] and move forward through him.

Theft of rationed foods, tires, shoes and other goods obtainable only by permits or coupons in the United States is now a federal offence and subject to prosecution by the F.B.I. . . . A citizen of St. Catharines, Ont., was recently fined $26 in police court for raising his own rent. He sold a house for which he had previously received $35 per month rent, moved into it himself, and paid the new owner $45 per month. . . . The city of Valleyfield plans to petition the Quebec Legislature for power to oblige any property owner to give the city treasurer notices of changes in his tenants, and also for authority to compel any tenant who has subtenants to give a similar notice, and to hold landlords personally responsible for water bills . . . We wonder what right the Liquor Control Board has to stamp a number on the registration card of every person who endeavors to make a purchase. These are the days when the rights of citizens are often usurped without proper authority. . . . We wonder why there are so many varieties of sweet pickles on the market when sugar is supposed to be somewhat scarce. In some stores it is impossible to obtain sour pickles. . . . We wonder what became of Baron Axel Wenner-Gren, whose seagoing yacht was once a familiar figure in these waters. He disappeared about the time the United States Government placed his name on a certain list. . . . Last week a vacant fourteen-room house burned to the ground at 1035 Belmont Avenue. It seems strange that such a large city-owned home should have been empty with the present housing shortage. . . . A tame rabbit is wild when its weight is less than that amount."

Drive for Funds—The Patriotic Fund drive will be given a "big push" Sunday night when a monster mass meeting in the interests of the campaign will be held, at which prominent speakers will put before the citizens of Victoria the facts of the situation as it now affects the fund. The meeting will be held at the Royal Victoria Theatre. The band of the 5th Regiment, C.G.A., will render several musical selections. His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Sir Frank Stillman Barnard has been asked to preside. The $120,000 goal set for yesterday was reached last evening and today it is expected to add another $30,000.

What Shall the Zone Be?—What shall the zone belt is the question which all interested in the sealing industry are now discussing. The telegram to Collector Milne published in The Colonist a few days ago has started the discussion, and the general opinion appears to be that when the details of the Russian proposal arrive it will be found to be three marine leagues. Collector Milne has telegraphed to Ottawa, explaining that most of the sealers have gone out, and urging expedition in the matter.

Stag Hunt—The stag hunt mentioned in our yesterday's issue will come off somewhere today in the neighborhood of Beacon Hill at 2 p.m., the precise locality not being decided on. A meeting will take place at the Beehive Hotel when the stag will be in attendance at 1 o'clock, and will then be left to the majority intending to participate in the sport where to start from.

Ladoga the Russians are again pressing forward.

From Stockholm, the correspondent of The Times reports Vyazma is now exposed to the Russian assault. The Red Army's objective, however, is rather to destroy German armies than to recover more territory, which adds to the strain on their communications. Berlin commentators are preparing Germans for withdrawal from Orel.

Allied air supremacy in Burma is [illegible] being established, the Delhi correspondent of The Times reports. Whenever Japanese airplanes appear they are shot out of the sky. Pilots report a decline in the enemy's desire for battle.

Dealing editorially with the Japanese general's declarations that the war must be decided this year, The Times says Japanese plans have been dislocated for the time being by the destruction of the Bismarck Sea convoy. Estimates of Japanese losses in aircraft and ships published in the United States, however, can only be guesses. But there is no doubt the Japanese are losing air fighting capacity. Too much should not be built on this. Even if the flood of Japanese aggression has been halted, it has still to be turned back.

Swift successes of the first few months left Japan in possession of a great chain of defensive positions and vast supplies of raw materials. The Allies have a huge tax ahead of them and must not underestimate Japan's fighting capacity. However, Japan's worst mistake is already an obvious failure to realize the Allies' strength. She is consequently committed to a long defensive war against enemies she can not hope to outlast.

Rommel Retreats

to the assault, hitting three more vessels. Of these, one blew up and sank on the spot; the two others were left afire. This time, one enemy fighter was shot down.

Nine enemy planes were destroyed by Allied pilots pounding at Rommel's retreat, and Cairo reports told of an additional twenty that were probably destroyed.

Telling of Rommel's defeat in his initial attacks in the area of the Mareth line, a military informant disclosed that the German marshal's "last bitter lunge was made with thirty-eight tanks and 1,000 infantrymen. This thrust carried to within five miles west of Medenine, but was caught then in a hot core of British artillery fire which fire halted and then threw back the charge.

FIRST ATTACK SATURDAY MORNING

Rommel made his first attack against British positions before the Mareth line at 4:30 a.m. Saturday and, when this was repulsed by British infantrymen and tanks, launched another at 7:30 a.m. This gained some high ground, but a British counter-attack within an hour left the Eighth Army in control of the ridge.

Still trying, thirty Axis tanks and 1,000 infantrymen struck to a point five miles west of Medenine. Heavy British artillery fire pinned them down and then forced the withdrawal.

"It appears the enemy was seeking the high ground in the hop of slipping through our forces," the military source said. "But he efforts completely failed and, at the moment, he is making no further offensive efforts toward our positions."

tion by all means, but let the citizens of Canada have their bee if they want it."

Mr. Harris said he doubted whether the extra one-cent charge on first-class letters would bring the $8,000,000 extra revenue expected. Business organizations would economize in use of e-mails, social correspondence would be reduced, and corporation and income tax revenue would be affected by stamps being bought and charged as an expense against the costs of operation.

He said he could understand why there was no extra tax on second-class matter such as Canadian newspapers and periodicals which were unable to bear such a tax and would make such an outcry that the Government's political life would be in jeopardy.

But the Government should have had the courage to apply the extra tax on third-class mater, being careful to exempt matter affecting the welfare of the state, but leaving "all the writer of unnecessary circulars to bear their full carrying cost."

SHOULD REDUCE ORDINARY EXPENSES

Ordinary expenditures of the government should be reduced, Mr. Harris said.

Paternal legislation for [illegible] works projects, wheat acreage reduction, and the operation of the wheat board and other Government-owned enterprises such as [illegible] and railways with present [illegible] certainty should be far [illegible] previous years and demand careful scrutiny of every [illegible] of the House of Commons, Mr. Harris said.

The committee appointed to [illegible] war expenditures had a [illegible] diana, failure as far as [illegible] ing the task which its [illegible] implies.

"The lack of representation of minority groups, the [illegible] was forced on the activities of the committee all tended to reduce the possibilities of the members of the committee doing efficient work on behalf of the country."

Ten per cent of the House membership was not enough to assume the responsibility of checking into 70 per cent of the war expenditures, he said.

I say to the members of [illegible] ing the Government that the futility of your service to Canada is to be deplored.

CALLS THEM RUBBER STAMPS

"There is a vulgar expression used in ordinary party warfare that those supporting the Administration are rubber stamps. The examination of the votes of the committee on war expenditures must leave that impression.

"I would therefore suggest that the whole system of examining war expenditures be overhauled."

To borrow $1,000,000,000 in the next Victory Loan was not enough. If a national income of $5,000,000,000 permitted a $1,000,000,000 loan, then a national income of $7,000,000,000 should permit a Victory Loan of a greater amount than in the past.

Mr. Harris said he warned the Government that improvident spending and carnival living, "rampant" during this Winter, would break out with renewed intensity "with the advent of Spring and the Easter bonnet, unless our people are sobered by the events overseas." Inflation would mean financial chaos.

The absentee system in Canada was due largely to "the improvident taxation measures of last year." This taxation had given an excuse to labor to stay away from employment. A single employee who worked a full week of forty-eight hours at sixty cents an hour had a maximum pay of $28.80 a week, with an income tax liability of $4.90. If he worked only five days, he paid income tax of $3.56. If he worked four and a half days he paid tax of $2.27.

"The man would be better off to work the full six days, but at the same time he was taxed double the income tax if he worked six days rather than four.

"Rather than give to the Government the extra $2.63 in taxation he will stay at home and probably put his time in on improving his home or working in his garden or taking leisure, with the net result the Government receives only one-half the income tax that if expected to receive from that individual," Mr. Harris said.

To Build Roads

and if so, had it the statutory authority to proceed.

ASKS ACTION TO GIVE GOVERNMENT AUTHORITY

"If the Government has not the authority to do anything but inquire, I think action should be taken now," Mr. Winch asserted. "Some legislation should be passed immediately to give the Government the necessary statutory authority."

Mr. Pattullo maintained that the Government's right to participate in the collection of the income tax was "all bound up in this Bill."

"How are you to get the money to pay back this loan if you have no right to collect the income tax? Are you going to depend on the liquor profits? There may be none later. This is the biggest issue today and I want to know where the Government stands. I suggest that the Government come out courageously—not act stubbornly—come out and tell the people if the income tax is to be made a part and parcel of our economy."

HOUSING IMPORTANT, SAYS MRS. MacINNIS

Mrs. Grace MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver-Burrard) argued that provision had been made in the Loan Bill for all but the most important problem, that of housing.

"In my opinion part of this money should be devoted to relieving unsanitary and overcrowded housing conditions. This is more important than roads and bridges at the present time. In many towns housing conditions are deplorable indeed."

Herbert Herridge (C.C.F., Rossland-Trail) asked if, under the terms of the bill, the Government would be able to provide necessary accommodation for Provincial Police in various parts of the province. Premier Hart replied that such provision would be possible.

A. J. Turner (C.C.F., Vancouver East) asked the assurance of the Premier than an attempt would be made to consolidate Government buildings in cities.

TRAINED MEN SHOULD HAVE CONSIDERATION

W. J. Asselstine (Liberal, Atlin) asked that more consideration be given to facilities for employing in research work young men trained at the University of British Columbia.

During discussion of the bill to permit the employment of women in mines, Colin Cameron (C.C.F., Comox) said that labor unions in his riding were of the opinion that the act did not safeguard wages and working standards, that it was premature in that there were still unemployed miners in the district, and that it should provide for equal wages for equal work.

Samuel Guthrie (C.C.F., Cowichan-Newcastle) was convinced he said, that work in mines was wholly unsuitable for women. The bill was not necessary, he said, because many miners were still unemployed.

DIVISION CALLED ON SECOND READING

A division was called on second reading of the bill, with twenty-five members supporting the measure and sixteen opposing. It was referred to a committee of the whole House to be considered at the next sitting.

In discussing the act regarding staking for minerals on Indian reserves, Mr. Winch contended that the act did not set out or give any indication of the basis on which permission to prospect would be granted. Mrs. Dorothy Steeves (C.C.F., North Vancouver) thought persons most concerned should have been consulted in its preparation. The bill was given second reading.

When a vulnerable player takes out his partner's penalty double of a non-vulnerable bid, it is tantamount to saying "I think we can make more by going on with our own bidding than by penalizing the opponents." This, of course, may be perfectly true, but woe betide the player who sends the message and then, through some error in play, fails to make good his own prophecy.

West opened the spade queen, dummy won, declarer discarding a club, and the ace and a low diamond were led. West won and continued spades, the king winning and declarer discarding another club. A low club was then led to the king and a diamond was ruffed with the heart jack, after which the club ace was cashed. Then the club was ruffed in the closed hand and the last diamond was ruffed with the heart king. The heart ace was cashed, then a spade was led from dummy. East ruffed and declarer overruffed, but when the heart queen was laid down the ten failed to drop, and the last and setting trick had to be conceded to East.

A slightly different order of plays would have made the contract a lay-down. After winning the first spade trick and shedding a club, declarer should have given thought to the possibility that the heart suit would not break, and should have prepared against that eventuality by deliberately shortening his own trump suit. He should have cashed the second spade trick, discarding another club, then cashed two rounds of clubs, ending in dummy, and ruffed a spade in his own hand. Now he could lead the diamond ace and concede a diamond. West would win and lead another spade (as good defense as any). Declarer would ruff, thereby reducing himself to three trumps, then ruff a diamond in dummy. He could afford to cash one heart, then ruff a spade and cross-ruff the last two tricks—a diamond in dummy, and a spade with the heart queen. With this plan, at no time would declarer be in any danger, and the slam contract would have paid much greater dividends than the double of West's two spade bid.

Part of Day's Work Clearing Floating Mine

Toronto Officer Did Job Himself

TORONTO, March 8 (CP)—Clearing a German mine which had fouled the sweeping equipment of his British ship in the English Channel was "all in a day's work," Lt.-Cmdr. Bruce Carnall, of Toronto, said in an interview today.

The thirty-two-year-old officer, unwilling to ask any of his crew to do the job, stripped off his heavy clothing, and grabbed the mooring-line of the mine. Then, carefully slipping along the rope through the icy water, he approached the mine with an axe strapped to his back.

"Great care was necessary to avoid touching the points of the mine," he said. "After several attempts the caple was severed and I got back to the ship."

He thinks the toughest part of a mine sweeper's job is to bring in a new-type enemy mine for examination.

"When we get a new one," he said, "we mustn't destroy it. This is tough. I have often swum out to such a mine and fastened a rope around it. Then it was dragged back to port for examination. New types are found quite often and we must be able to distinguish them at a glance."

Lt.-Cmdr. Carnall said his ship was one of the mine sweepers used to clear the path for invasion barges at Dieppe.

"We worked all night off the French coast," he said. "As the first trace of dawn came we could see troop barges in every direction. Our crew began to shout that the invasion of Europe was starting.

"By skilful handling not a mine-sweeper was lost at Dieppe, although we came under the fire of shore batteries for some time. The Royal Air Force umbrella was perfect."

Fleets May Have to Hunt Japanese Out Of Lairs Hereafter

WITH THE UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET, March 8 (AP)—Widespread feeling is apparent among crews of the United States Fleet that the war has entered a new phase with navy forces at least free from defensive "guard duty" and getting ready to go after the Japanese in a big way.

This attitude, growing since navy successes in the Solomons, and capture of Guadalcanal, was given a boost by the triumph of army bombers in wiping out a twenty-two-ship Japanese convoy in the Bismarck Sea as it approached New Guinea March 4 and 5.

The army victory was accepted as advancing two seeming war trends:

1. That bases which the fleet has been largely occupied establishing and guarding since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor are secured by a combination of air, sea and land power.

2. That the Japanese Fleet, wary about coming forth to do battle since costly setbacks in the Coral Sea, Midway and Solomons, may have to be hunted out in its lairs hereafter.

Whirr and Clack of Cable Cars Missing

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8 (AP)—The familiar hum and whirr and clack of the downtown cable cars was missing today. Not enough men showed up to run them. Both the company and the union declared there was no strike. A union spokesman said he guessed the men went fishing.

Employees had expressed sharp protest of a War Labor Board ruling that the company could increase their wages only three cents an hour although the company had agreed on a seven and one-half cent increase.

Huge United States Navy Ready by 1945

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—All of the United States' projected five-ocean navys—four times as large as the naval force in 1939—will be ready for sea duty by the end of 1945, Navy Secretary Frank Knox says.

Attainment of that goal two years ahead of original expectations will be possible, he said in his annual report to President Roosevelt, because "speeded up construction has broken all previous records" in navy shipbuilding.

Knox made no predictions on completion of the navy's contemplated force of 27,500 airplanes but in reviewing the navy's work in the war he said it is impossible "to overemphasize the value and valor of naval aviation's contribution" in the first six months of the conflict.

American Flyer Killed

EDMONTON, March 8 (CP)—A United States Army Air Force pilot was killed Saturday when his single-engined plane crashed north of Edmonton, it was made known today. There were no details concerning the mishap. Name of the dead pilot is being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Another United States army plane made a forced landing on a road southwest of Edmonton, but the pilot, 2nd Lieut. J. E. Vaughn, of Great Falls, Montana, escaped injury.

Riveters Laid Off

VANCOUVER, March 8 (CP)—Five hundred riveters at Burrard North yard have been laid off as "a temporary measure because we are ahead of our schedules," W. J. Wardell, general manager of Burrard Drydock Company, said today, adding "we expect to swing back to normal by next week." He said orders of fabricated steels had been held up because "some of our subcontractors have been unable to keep pace with us."

Medium-Sized United States Steamer Sunk

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The Navy Department reported today that a medium-sized United States merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine early in February in the North Atlantic. Survivors have landed at New York. All sixty-nine crew members were rescued a few hours after the ship sank.

They said a lookout sighted the torpedo shortly before it crashed into the ship's bow. All hands went over the side in four lifeboats as the ship sank slowly on an even keel. The submarine did not surface.

Appointed to Command Naval Depot Overseas

OTTAWA, March 8 (CP)—Capt. Eustace Brock, formerly of Winnipeg, has been appointed commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Niobe, the Canadian naval depot in the United Kingdom, it was announced today at Naval Service Headquarters.

Capt. Brock, formerly chief Canadian liaison officer to the Admiralty in London, carried out the organization of the Royal Canadian Women's Naval Service and was succeeded a few days ago as head of the Wrens by Chief Officer Dorothy Isherwood, who came here some time ago from Britain.

Two Flyers Rescued

SEATTLE, March 8 (AP)—Two men whose Pan-American Airways plane crashed into a ridge between Moses Point and Nutallo in Alaska a week ago were rescued yesterday, the Seattle office of Pan-American announced last night.

The rescued men were Capt. D. L. McLennan, twenty-five, of Seattle, and Flight Mechanic Fred Moller, fifty-two, Fairbanks, Alaska. The men were sighted walking on a frozen river and a ski-equipped plane landed, picked them up and flew them to Fairbanks.

Kept in Bed with Rheumatic Pains

Knees swollen—neck stiff with pain—unable to get out of bed. That was the condition of this woman when she began to take Kruschen Salts. Now she writes this letter:

"I have had rheumatic pains in the neck and knees for years, and was bedfast for several months. I could get no relief from anything I took. Then a friend of mine told me to try Kruschen Salts. I got a bottle, and that first bottle took the swelling out of my knees. Soon my neck too was free from pain. It is three months since I started taking Kruschen, and now I am up and doing my housework—which I could not do for six months. I would not be without Kruschen."—(Mrs.) F.S.

Kruschen brings relief from cutting stabbing rheumatic pains because it directly aids in the elimination of harmful impurities by the kidneys and bowels. The component salts of Kruschen stimulate the organs to increased activity—harmful poisons are eliminated regularly and punctually. The blood-stream is cleansed and the rheumatic condition improved.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c and 75c.

Policy Directed Toward Security Of All Nations

No Intention to Make Pacific American Lake

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The acting state secretary, Sumner Welles, said today the United States has no desire to transform the Pacific into an "American lake," but wants to see it become safe for ships of all countries.

Welles was asked at his press conference whether the United States has received informal assurances from its Allies as to permanent American bases in the Pacific after the war. He replied that the Government's whole policy is directed toward achievement of security for the United States and its people, and that unconditional surrender and complete disarmament of Japan are necessary to that end.

He added, however, that he believes emphasis should be placed on international security for all countries; not that the United States should claim the Pacific as an "American lake," but rather as a peaceful lake safe for all countries.

(Representative Warren Magnuson (Democrat, Washington), chairman of the House of Representatives naval sub-committee, said in a week-end interview the committee is studying a plan which envisions use by the United States of Pacific bases for commercial trade with the Orient and as "filling stations" for a big Pacific fleet.)

What Today Means

PISCES

If March 9 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date will be from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods will be from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m., from 6:15 to 8:15 p.m. and from 10:15 p.m. until midnight.

Personal requirements should be anticipated well in advance on March 9, for fulfilling them may take more time than you realize. A period of unforeseen delays may disrupt plans and prove to be annoying factors in the lives of those who are in a hurry. One man's guess is apt to be as good as another's on this date, so it might be just as well for you to depend entirely on your own at this time. The know-it-all person may lose a great deal of valuable information by being too busy to listen to salesmen, or other well-informed sources through which it will be disseminated. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who have matrimonial plans in the making, had better realize that "facts are stubborn things," and that it is the height of folly to try to disregard them.

If you are a woman and March 9 is your birthday, your loyalty and unswerving devotion to those you love probably is your outstanding trait. One of the most unpleasant characteristics against which you must constantly guard is a desire to dominate or regulate those with whom you are constantly associated. Learn to live within your income if you would save yourself unnecessary worry. Even if you must entertain most informally, you should endeavor to make your home a gathering place for your friends. As a dietitian, trained nurse, scientist, artist, musician, writer, business manager, interior decorator, literary agent, public stenographer, or by some practical display of patriotism, you may find yourself facing a future filled with golden opportunities.

The child born on March 9 generally can be handled much more easily with tact than by force. It ought to be easy to teach this youngster to do things methodically, with neatness and dispatch. Because of the stimulus of ambition, Pisces children never are satisfied to occupy a place in the rear van of those marching toward success.

If you are a man and March 9 is your natal day, despite the fact that you are a consistently hard worker, you may have a tendency to put things off until the last minute and then nearly cause yourself to have a case of nervous prostration by rushing to get them done. As a psychologist, physician, lawyer, clergyman, author, journalist, promoter, contractor, architect, builder, electrician, inventor, actor, painter, agriculturist, or as a member of one of the military forces, your achievements may be outstanding.

WEEKLY WARTIME NUTRITION HINTS

Martha Logan, Swift's famed home economist, whose weekly wartime cooking column is a regular feature of this page. Look for these valuable hints each Tuesday.

by Martha Logan

Braised Heart

Liver, Heart or Kidneys should be eaten once a week, say Canada's food rules

Properly cooked, the "variety meats" are really delicious. What is more, they are often less in demand and as "protective foods" they are tops. This week we give you our favourite recipe for Beef Heart. First, the dressing: 1 cup stale bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons sausage meat, 1 egg. Brown sausage and onions in 1 tablespoon beef dripping. Add bread crumbs, beaten egg and seasoning. Now wash the heart and remove tubes. Season, fill with dressing and sew up. Brown in hot fat. Add ½ cup vegetable stock or water. Cover and cook slowly for about 3 hours till tender, adding liquid as needed. Try serving Heart braised this way, with cauliflower and corn kernels, for a main dish. It makes a thrifty meal but a very delicious one—and you know your family is getting the kind of food that will help keep each of them fit.

"EAT THESE FOODS EVERY DAY!"

say our Government's Nutrition Services

BUTTER SAVING SUGGESTIONS

Now that butter rationing is in effect across Canada, the consumer section of Dominion Department of Agriculture has come forward with butter saving suggestions that every housewife will follow and appreciate.

First check the ways in which butter is used in the home, and plan how the ration for each person per week can be used with the greatest satisfaction to everyone.

If butter was formerly used in baking cakes, cookies, try other fats. They will give good results.

Select recipes for cakes, puddings and sauces which call for only moderate amounts of fat. Sugar must also be considered.

Do not use butter for frying. Fats from sausages, spare ribs and other meats are excellent for this purpose.

Drippings from beef and lamb roasts can be used in meat and vegetable dishes, and for pan-frying many foods.

Grated cheese on vegetables also will take the place of butter.

Use cheese with bread crumbs for toppings. Before serving steaks do not put butter on them.

A. H. Sutherland Elected Head of Authors' Society

Local Writers Win Distinction

Alex H. Sutherland was elected president by the Victoria and Islands Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association at the annual meeting last night in the Y.W.C.A.

Other officers chosen were: Honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. Nellie McClung, Donald A. Fraser and Mrs. C. D. A. Henderson; first vice-president, Mrs. Mary Carr Wright; second vice-president, Mrs. Mutter; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Steer; treasurer, Mrs. Millicent Frampton; executive committee, Mrs. Ebbs-Canavan, Mrs. Myrtle E. Lane, Mrs. Stella Blair, Miss Anne Marriott, Miss Pauline Havard and Rev. J. P. Hicks.

The secretary reported a successful year for the branch in that two of its members, Miss Anne Marriott and Miss Emily Carr, had won the Governor - General's awards for poetry and non-fiction. Another member, Mrs. Millicent Frampton, had won second place in the contest of the League of Western Writers with her essay "A League of Nations With Police Power." Many local writers of distinction had been added to the membership in the past year.

Particular progress had been achieved in poetry as was reported by Miss Pauline Havard for the poetry group. Regular meetings and study sessions of this section had been held throughout the year. Two members, Miss Anne Marriott and Miss M. Eugenie Perry, had long poems accepted by Toronto publishers, and nearly every poet in the group had work published in reputable markets.

Miss Anne Marriott, convener, read the report of the drama group. Members who had radio dramas broadcast over the national or local networks were Miss Marriott, Miss Muriel Rant, Mrs. Mary Carr Wright and Trevor Inkpen.

Mrs. Maurice Johnston, convener of the short-story-prose group, sent in a report which was read by Mrs. Frampton. Members had worked steadily in this difficult branch of writing and had succeeded in disposing of several short stories for children. Nearly all members had placed prose with local or Eastern newspapers. A vote of thanks was moved to the Chamber of Commerce.

Consider Plan For Landing

NANAIMO, March 8.—At their meeting tonight Nanaimo City Council members considered a proposition of Harry Freeman, secretary of the Nanaimo Industrial Committee, regarding the converting of Commercial Inlet into a harbourage for fishermen. The plan would accommodate all the fishermen who now are obliged to tie up in Vancouver for the Winter. A survey of the inlet had shown that a floating landing of 750 feet in length could be made to accommodate seventy to seventy-five fishing boats.

In the Summer the inlet could be used as a landlocked harbor for tourists who come here from many points in yachts and power boats. The project was left to the parks committee to investigate.

Carnival Sponsors Not Superstitious

Plan Thirteen Numbers for Ice Show at Willows on March 19

Shunning superstition, members of the committee in charge of the second annual charity ice carnival to be presented at the Willows Arena on the evening of Friday, March 19, yesterday placed thirteen numbers on their variety programme.

Sponsored by the two Victoria dailies and staged with the co-operation of the Victoria City Police and Fire Departments, the event promises another night of fun and frivolity for old and young alike. Comedy will be injected wherever possible, but the more serious side of the entertainment programme will also be capably looked after.

Inaugurated last year, the show proved an outstanding success. More than 3,000 persons jammed the spacious building at the Willows to capacity, and the entire receipts, amounting to in excess of $800, were equally divided between Victoria's A.R.P. Fund and the Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children.

Promoters of this year's carnival feel certain that their efforts will again meet with success. As was the case with the first show, all of the contributing artists are donating their services, while the large army of volunteer workers will eliminate any charges for handling the crowd.

Music will be provided by the ever-popular Royal Canadian Navy Band with Lieutenant Cuthbert conducting. The sailor musicians, in addition to providing the musical background for some of the numbers, will be heard in a tribute to fighting forces of the United Nations.

First curtain call will be 8:30 o'clock. The programme will be run off in two parts, with a fifteen-minute interval at the halfway mark. Net proceeds from the show will go to the Mill Bay Solarium for crippled children.

Signing of Ball Teams

Contracts Worrying Big League Clubs

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—With the start of baseball's Spring training season just a week away, the major league clubs are having mixed success in their efforts to get all players signed to contracts before their stars can officially be termed "holdouts."

Five of the eight clubs in the American League have twenty or more of their players satisfied and ready to report but in the National League only the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals have been so successful.

New York Yankees have signed an even dozen players but notably missing are Catcher Bill Dickey, Pitchers Ernie Bonham, Marius Russo and Spud Chandler, Infielders Joe Gordon and Frank Crosseti and Outfielder Charley Keller.

New York Giants have only fifteen signed and Brooklyn Dodgers a mere nine. Brooklyn has not heard from Pitchers Whitlow Wyatt, Buck Newsom and Curt Davis, Catcher Mickey Owen, Infielder Arky Vaughan or Outfielder Dixie Walker.

Philadelphia Phils have only four players signed, Boston Braves eleven, Pittsburgh fourteen and Cincinnati sixteen. The Cards have twenty-one and President Sam Breadon indicated most of his standbys were satisfied although he did not say which players were unsigned.

In the American League Philadelphia Athletics have their roster nearest completion, but also are faced with possibly the most stubborn holdout—Outfielder Bob Johnson, who has been waging a long-distance argument about whether he did or did not earn a bonus last season.

Detroit Tigers have twenty-seven signed, Boston Red Sox twenty-three, Washington twenty-two, Cleveland twenty and St. Louis Browns thirteen. Cleveland Indians are still negotiating with Jeff Heath, Fort William boy.

Henry Armstrong Defeats Larkin In Ten-Rounder

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8 (AP).—Former Triple Boxing Champion Henry Armstrong marked up another victory in his sensational comeback campaign knocking out Tippy Larkin, Garfield, N.J., welterweight, in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder tonight.

Larkin went down on a minute and nine seconds after the second round opened. Armstrong let fly with a right cross to the chin, and followed with a left hook to the other side of the jaw. The New Jersey boy flopped to the canvas.

He tried to rise at the count of nine but fell flat on his face. His handlers had to drag him to the corner.

Larkin came out here with a ring record of only six defeats in 105 fights. He managed to take the opening round by a shade. He stabbed Armstrong repeatedly with left jabs.

Armstrong put on a closing rally to nearly even up the frame; however, and Larkin seemed wobbly as the bell sounded.

Armstrong weighed 139 pounds, against 140 1-2 for Larkin.

Kilrea Setting Hockey Record

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 8 (AP). — Having buried the American Hockey League scoring record deep under a mound of hockey pucks a week or so ago, Walter Kilrea, of Hershey, proceeded to do the same to every league's all-time scoring record last week.

The official American Hockey League figures released today credit him with four goals and five assists last week, making a total point score of ninety-three. That's four more than the previously recorded high for a Winter's work set by Oscar Hansen, of Minneapolis, in the American Association years ago, and there's still a week of regular play.

The scores this week officially recorded also a league record for goals, the forty counted for Pee-Wee Summerhill, of Buffalo. Both his total and the thirty-nine chalked up by Harry Frost, of Hershey, outranked the thirty-seven left in Washington last year by Lou Trudel, now of Cleveland.

For second place in the point race, Adam Brown, of Indianapolis, and Les Cunningham, of Cleveland, were tied at seventy-eight.

Political Speaker: "I'm pleased to see such a dense crowd here tonight."

Voice from the audience: "Don't be too pleased. We aren't all dense."

Strong Offensive To Curtail Sport

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 8 (CP)—It all depends on offensive operations, but big slashes in major sport may be necessary in Britain this year.

If the cream of the athletic crop is engaged with others in a full-scale European offensive, major events such as racing, cricket and professional football would all but fold up. But local events would continue to be given every encouragement, be it an inter-village soccer tilt or a darts tournament in the local pub.

In general, the Government policy remains as of last March when Herbert Morrison, Minister of Home Security, said sport within reason was regarded as a "lubricant" rather than a break in the war effort, although the Government would not hesitate to impose further restrictions in the interests of the war effort.

Come what may, every effort will be continued to stage events in aid of the Red Cross and other war charities, which have yielded vastly greater sums than originally anticipated. The total now has topped $2,550,000. Last month sporting and social functions raised more than $225,000.

For the first time since war began there will be no Summer football in the big leagues this season. Play with the exception of a couple of special matches will end May 1, peacetime day of closure, instead of wartime's June.

No reason was given but—it could mean the Allies will be driving towards Berlin by then.

Stamford Bridge and Tottenham or West Ham are the grounds on which the Southern Football League Cup semi-finals will be played. The final is scheduled for May 1 at gigantic Wembley Stadium.

Providing the grounds are available, Stamford will put on the first semi-final April 17, with the other at Tottenham or West Ham the following week. Choice of ground will depend on which teams reach the semi-finals.

The mighty Arsenal Gunners are cup favorites and proof of their drawing ability can be found in the attendance. More than 300,000 have watched them this season — an amazing figure for a club in wartime.

Such problems as those of the postwar period took all the play at a meeting of the Football League management committee, governing body of big-time soccer. It was announced there would be no change in the league immediately after the war but that when conditions became reasonably normal, a full league programme as in prewar years was planned.

Cpl. Arnold Hayes, Canadian Army heavyweight boxing king, added a knockout to his string of victories in English rings by dusting off Fred Hart, of London, in the ninth round of a bout at Bristol. A body blow did the trick. Hart was substituting for George Muir, champion of the New Zealand forces, who attended the bouts but was unable to box because of an injury suffered in a previous ring appearance.

Sports Snapshots

TORONTO, March 8 (CP).—The tip-off from the Pacific Coast is to watch Victoria Army in the Allan Cup hockey play-downs. There are plenty of clubs in the Dominion with more big names on their line-ups. Army, in fact, wasn't even favored to get past Chuck Rayner and his Victoria Navy team in the Vancouver Island League; but they did—and in three straight games. As individuals the Army players have not been sensational; as a team they are hot. They now lead the British Columbia finals with R.C.A.F. three games to one, needing only one more victory.

Maybe a big reason the Army boys are clicking is their manager, Lieut. Eric Warburton, and his wife. After they walloped Vancouver R.C.A.F. 10-1 in the first game of the British Columbia final, Alf (Vancouver Sun) Cottrell visited their hotel to see what made the Army boys tick so smoothly. He discovered that the Warburtons have practically adopted the players into their family, given them parties, nursed them through minor illnesses.

"We're Pop and Mom to them, you know," said Mrs. Warburton. "They're just like our own children."

Pop added paternally: "They're the most unselfish bunch of players I ever saw."

"And they don't do any roistering around," put in Mom. "You never have a moment's worry with our boys."

WHO ARE THESE PARAGONS?

Who are these paragons? They're a collection of mighty useful hockey players. Their top forward line has Bill Carse, formerly of Chicago Black Hawks, at centre, flanked by Joffre Desilets, of Montreal Canadiens, and Elmer Kreller, of New York Rovers. The second line of Sammy Kennedy, Mel Lunde and Pinky Melnyk, former Cleveland Baron, is almost equally dangerous.

Nick Metz plays defence. Metz, whose forward play was a big factor in Toronto Maple Leafs' Stanley Cup win a year ago, suffered a fractured collarbone early in the season, but may be used in provincial play-downs. Other defencemen are Julian Sawchuk, of New York Rovers; Hugh Sutherland and Jev Borosky, formerly of Trail Smoke Eaters.

Goalie Art Rice-Jones is given much credit for steadying the Army boys since he joined them late in the season. Art has had wide experience with top teams in Winnipeg, Geraldton, Ont., and Calgary.

Yes, they're all hockey players. But, as Pop Warburton put it, "What I like best about it is that it's a team, not a collection of stars or a club built around a pair of big-name players."

Camilli Back With Dodgers

First Sacker to Keep Position

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—All fears that Branch Rickey himself might have to play first base for Brooklyn Dodgers this year, that with the talk of trading Babe Dahlgren and Dolph Camilli's ambition he might stick to ranching were dispelled today.

Camilli is returning to the Dodger fold. The slugging first baseman told Rickey today that he, Camilli, had found help to work his ranch and would arrive here April 5.

Rickey said he had offered Camilli a straight contract without bonus, but the bonus Camilli had earned last year was added to his salary so he will be receiving the same amount of money. This was estimated at $22,500.

The Dahlgren deal meanwhile was up in the air, with rumors still around that the fancy first baseman would go to the Phils in some kind of a swap.

The Dodgers did do a little business with the Phils today.

Rickey announced that Roberto Ortiz, outfielder who hit .360 in ninety-five games with Chattanooga last year, had been claimed from the Phils via the waiver route. Ortiz originally came up to Washington Senators as a fast but wild pitcher from Cuba.

The Dodgers' pitching staff was bolstered with the signing of fat Freddie Fitzsimmons to a player contract, instead of a player-coach contract as he had last year. Rickey explained, however, that Fitz' status will be the same, and that he will continue his coaching duties along with an occasional turn on the mound.

Pitcher Rube Melton, who had announced the purchase of a farm and hinted he might stay there this year, notified the Dodger boss the farm deal had fallen through, indicating Melton plans to play baseball.

ARMY ELIMINATES AIR FORCE IN B.C. ICE SERIES

Army Puckchasers Win British Columbia Championship

VICTORIA Army puckchasers, pictured above, last night were crowned British Columbia champions, when they defeated Vancouver Royal Canadian Air Force, 11-2, in the fifth game of the best-of-seven play-offs for the laurels. Soldiers started their bid for the hogors by disposing of the Victoria R.C.A.F. in straight games in the semi-finals of the Island series, and then eliminated the Navy, league champions, in three contests. In the British Columbia trail to the Allan Cup play-downs the troops turned back the Vancouver R.C.A.F., four games to one. Soldiers registered 10-1 and 18-5 in the first two games played at Queen's Park Arena, New Westminster, and registered a 10-5 verdict in the third contest played at the Willows Arena. Last Saturday the Vancouver R.C.A.F. eked out a 4-3 win in the fourth fixture, but last night the Army boys, looking like themselves once more, skated to an 11-2 triumph to take the series in five games. Soldiers next stop in their Allan Cup quest will be Calgary, but before heading east over the Canadian Rockies the troops are slated to play two exhibition games at New Westminster against an All-star Club. Those in the picture are, back row, left to right: "Red" McDonald, equipment man; S. Sutherland, R. Reigner, L. Wilson, Centre, left to right, Lt. "Bud" Ray, coach; J. Bobrosky, S. Kennedy, M. Provincial Honors Taken by Soldiers

Joffre Desilets, Scoring Star, as Army Trounces the Flyers, 11-2

Victoria Army puckchasers, playing a hard, driving game all of the way, wrapped up their British Columbia amateur hockey championship in decisive fashion last night at the Willows Arena by skating to an 11-2 victory over Vancouver Royal Canadian Air Force, Mainland titleholders, in the fifth game of the best-of-seven playdowns.

Soldiers, red hot favorites, following their 10-1 and 18-5 triumphs over the Vancouver puckmen in the first two games of the series, played at Queen's Park Arena, New Westminster, checked in with a 10-5 victory in their first game on local ice. Then, perhaps over-confident, dropped a 4-3 decision to the Royal Canadian Air Force sextette last Saturday, making last night's fifth contest necessary to decide the British Columbia champions and Allan Cup standard-bearers.

But it was a different story last night. The troops, taking considerable ribbing for their exhibition during the week-end, started to "play for keeps" from the first face-off and looked more like the Army club that Victoria fans had watched perform in the Island play-offs.

SOLDIERS REALLY GO TO TOWN

Soldiers, unquestionably the better squad, found the Vancouver Royal Canadian Air Force club displaying unexpected fight in the first and sandwich sessions, before fading before the hard-driving offensives of the final stanza.

Play was exceptionally fast all of the way and at times quite rugged, but only eight penalties were called by the officials in charge. The clubs broke even, each getting four trips to the penalty box.

Joffre "Dizzy" Desilets, ex-member of the Montreal Canadiens, who literally "flies" over the ice, paced the Army offensive with four big goals. It was the "Flying Frenchman" who sparked the troops in their seven-goal scoring splurge in the final period.

"Pinky" Melnyk, formerly with the Cleveland Barons of the American Association, was right behind Desilets, with three important tallies to his credit. Sammy Kennedy, Melnyk's linemate, bagged a singleton, as did Bill Carse (ex-Chicago Black Hawks) and Elmer Kreller, a former member of the New York Rovers, both linemates of Joffre Desilets. Big Julian Sawchuk, rearguard star of the soldier sextette, picked up the other goal.

Bill Pyatt, a defenceman, and Wilf Cook, who played with the Victoria Royal Canadian Air Force squad before going across to the Mainland to bolster the visitors' line-up, were the scorers for the Vancouver puckchasers.

GOALIE HUNTER IS BRILLIANT

Individual star of the visitors was Goalie Frank Hunter, who turned in another sparkling performance in front of the pipes. Hunter's play in the series has been sensational, and his evening's chores last night were exceptionally heavy. Time after time the soldier attackers floated in on top of him only to be outguessed, and at other moments stinging drives from the Army sticks almost lifted Hunter off his feet. The Vancouver R.C.A.F. goalie was tested fifty-five times and turned aside forty-four shots.

Goalie Art Rice-Jones, soldier net custodian, had his anxious moments against a fighting visiting club that turned in its best exhibition of the series. Like Hunter, he was left all alone at times and made a number of brilliant saves.

The former Calgary Stampeders goalie has performed brilliantly since donning the pads for the troops, and the 4-3 setback he sustained Saturday was his first on Victoria ice as a member of the Army puckchasing squad.

Held scoreless for ten minutes, soldiers opened the scoring when "Pinky" Melnyk slapped the rubber past Goalie Hunter after taking a pass from Mel Lunde. Army went two goals up when Sammy Kennedy registered at 12:27, with Linemates "Pinky" Melnyk and Mel Lunde in on the goal. Little more than a minute later Bill Carse took a pass from Joffre Desilets to make the score 3-0 as the period ended.

Soldiers kept the Vancouver R.C.A.F. on the defensive for minutes at a stretch in the sandwich session, but had to be satisfied with a single goal, a late marker by Julian Sawchuk, their defenceman.

Visitors were the first to score in this stanza, Defenceman Bill Pyatt taking a pass from Bus Zobrosky, his partner on the Flyers' rearguard, to move in on Cadet Art Rice-Jones and find the net. The tally came on a breakaway following an early attack on the R.C.A.F. cage.

The Mainlanders were awarded a penalty shot in this period when Mel Lunde, Army, tripped Jimmy Lowe as he was moving in to take a shot at Goalie Rice-Jones. Lowe took the penalty shot and missed the net by feet.

TROOPS UNCORK SCORING POWER

It was in the third and final session that the soldiers really uncorked their scoring stride and fired seven markers behind Goalie Frank Hunter. Joffre Desilets, going at top speed, bagged two goals, and then "Pinky" Melnyk duplicated this feat. Back came Desilets with another two markers. Elmer Kreller fired home the final soldier tally of the game.

Vancouver R.C.A.F., in a last-minute attack, registered at 19:55 when Wilf Cook took the puck off the boards and sagged the webbing.

President Doug Fletcher, of the Vancouver Island Senior Amateur Hockey League, congratulated the Army on winning the British Columbia championship, before asking George Summerfield, advertising manager of The Nanaimo Free Press, to present The Nanaimo Free Press Trophy, symbolic of the Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey championship, to Cadet Art Rice-Jones, captain of the soldier club.

Before handing over the handsome trophy, Summerfield also extended his congratulations to the Army Club on their fine play in the Vancouver Island League and the British Columbia play-offs.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

ALL OVER

After Saturday's fiasco, and that's all it was, the Army Hockey Club moved back into the good graces of the public last night at the Willows Arena by thumping the Vancouver R.C.A.F., a club which had no early chance of turning the colors of the soldiers if they played every night of the week . . . Troops had no alternative but to win before the public, or else to skate off the ice with their tails between their legs . . . . I understand the "pep talk" was handed out to the Army players long before game time, and apparently it didn't go in one ear and out the other, for the boys went to work from the very first whistle and continued their bombardment until they called it an evening . . . Getting back to last Saturday's game, one which we won't forget for a long time, that was the worst thing that could have happened to ice hockey in this city, so the soldiers, feeling sorry for themselves, went out Monday evening and blasted the Flyers from here to breakfast time to try and square accounts with Mr. and Mrs. John Public . . . Joffre Desilets, the former Montreal Canadiens' star, fired home four goals and aided in two more, for a gala night at the expense of the airmen. The Frenchman was really at home and made a big hit with the crowd . . . Goalie Hunter had fifty-five shots driven his way and was a busy man in the Flyers' net, while Art Rice-Jones only had twenty-seven . . . Why couldn't the troops perform that little trick last week-end instead of making the fans wait until last night for the final decision?

FROM THE MAIL BAG

Dear Joe:

Excuse the familiarity, Joe, but after being away from Victoria for two and a half years and reading your column the first thing every day, I feel as if you are an old friend.

I noticed a short while ago in your column that you had changed your mind concerning the Allan Cup winners on the strength of a report from someone from Ottawa, who said that the Commandos were not getting along any too well together. Maybe that was right at that time, or maybe they just didn't feel like putting too much pressure on. What ever the cause was they are really getting hot now.

Last night's exhibition was really a good display of how hockey should be played. They have taken the all-season leaders of the Quebec Hockey League two straight games so far in the best of a seven-game series, and after all, that is when the points count. So, Joe, you can take my word for it, if you want to get some of your money back and boost your batting average, take the Commandos to win the Allan Cup hands down. You should get good odds, too. At the moment they are only allowed to use six ex-professionals, but if they take this league they can use as many as they wish (and they have plenty).

It was reported yesterday that Bingo Kampman, former Toronto Maple Leaf star, has come to town, so you can be sure he will be in Commando colors before long. The Commandos are a cinch, Joe, so to quote yourself "don't say I didn't tell you so." Best of luck and I hope you pick them better in the future.

F. M. WALLER.

Ottawa, Ont., March 3, 1943.

Comment: No, Mr. Waller, I haven't turned against the Commandos to capture the Allan Cup, but I was a bit downhearted when the report came from the Dominion Capital that the team wasn't clicking and that they were having internal trouble. Shortly after the season started I picked the Commandos to pick up the silverware, and I will stick by that prediction to the end. Yours truly never backs water, once he jots it down in black and white. With Bingo Kampman on that team, it will be hard to beat as the trail to victory becomes rougher. As much as I would like the Ottawa club to finish on top, I am hoping to see this Army club of ours pull in their horns and make their pressure felt as eliminations continue across Canada.

ODDS AND ENDS

Embarrassing moments: George Summerfield, of The Nanaimo Free Press, traveled all the way down from the Coal City to present the trophy donated by his newspaper to the Army Hockey Club last Saturday night and then had to return without making the presentation. He left for home thoroughly disgusted, and I don't blame him . . . There were certainly a variety of caddies at the Oak Bay links yesterday for the start of the annual Empress golf tournament. One colored lad, and a good bag-toter they tell me, and a few Chinese boys, several young girls, war veterans from the No. 1 conflict of 1914-18, and the usual list of regulars . . . In all the years I have been covering golf meets for this paper, the "nineteenth hole" at Oak Bay is the quietest I have ever seen . . . Of the large field of 171 competitors, men and women, only nineteen local shotmakers are entered, the smallest since the tournament was first held back in 1928 . . . A few years ago we had such well-known club swingers in the men's running as Bob Morrison, Harold Brynjolson, Ken Lawson, Ted Colgate, Harold Linehan, Art Christopher, Harold Pretty, Bill Pomeroy and a few more top-notchers . . . A mysterious long distance phone call came into the sports department early Sunday morning from Vancouver. The operator said the gentleman will speak to anybody in the sports. His name was never mentioned, as a matter of fact he wouldn't disclose it. However, when I answered he said: "Who won the hockey game over there tonight?" I replied: "The Air Force won by a 4-3 score." The stranger said: "Fine, that's all I want to know," and at the same time slammed down the receiver. I have been wondering ever since if there wasn't something behind that call, and I have a strong hunch that there was "plenty behind it."

Frampton Is Tops

Finishing with a score of 71 for the eighteen-hole route, W. G. Frampton won the monthly medal competition held at the Gorge Vale Golf Club on Sunday from a large field. In the runner-up position were Bill Court and Ernie Brachat with net cards of 73.

Scores follow: W. G. Frampton, 71; W. Court, 73; E. Brachat, (73); H. Ashton, 74; W. E. Cook, 75; W. Rowe, 76; O. A. Trickett, 76; W. Jaffray, 77; Syd Jenkins, 78; C. J. Robertson, 79; J. Goodman, 80; G. Corkle, 82; J. G. Thomson, 84; R. Peden, 87.

VANCOUVER, March 8 (CP)—Royal Naval College, English Rugby champions of Victoria, will meet the R.C.A.F., Vancouver titlists, here on Saturday in a sudden-death game for the British Columbia crown and the Rounsfell Cup.

Detroit Red Wings today needed three points in their remaining four games to clinch the National Hockey League title, while Toronto Maple Leafs had a slight edge on Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens in the tussle for the league's last two play-off berths.

Boston Bruins, idle during the league's nineteenth week-end of competition, seemed certain of finishing in second place, while New York Rangers, long since eliminated from the post-season series, were resigned to the cellar spot.

Detroit, sweeping to a 5-0 victory over Chicago before 11,460 paid admissions at Olympia Stadium, Saturday, stirred slightly Sunday and were held to a 3-3 tie by Hawks at Chicago, but the three points enabled them to move four points ahead of Bruins, who have three games to play, compared with four for Detroit, before the regular schedule ends March 18.

Johnny Mowers, gaining his sixth shutout of the eleven posted by N.H.L. netminders this season, stopped twenty-nine shots, compared with twenty-six saves for Bert Gardiner, as goals by Harry Watson, Joe Carveth, Eddie Wares, Don Grosso and Sid Abel gave Wings their Saturday triumph. Mowers now has blanked every team in the circuit except Montreal.

BIGGEST CROWD OF REASON

Two third-period goals by Carveth, added to a second-period tally by Syd Howe, enabled Wings to gain the 3-3 deadlock at Chicago before 16,670 fans who formed the largest crowd of the N.H.L. season. Max Bentley, Cully Dahlstrom and Pido Purpur counted for Hawks.

The Montreal-Toronto match Saturday was billed as a crucial contest, but a stalemate resulted, Marcel Dheere giving the Habitants a 2-2 draw. Billy Taylor flashed a red light for what would have been the winning goal in the third period, but Referee King Clancy ruled the disc struck a post.

Gaye Stewart snapped a protracted scoring slump to tally twice Sunday as Leafs staved off a belated third-period attack for a 5-5 tie against New York Rangers. His second goal tied the count and gave Toronto a season's goal output of 184, exceeding Boston's previous mark of 179 compiled in 1929-30.

LEFT ARM ACTS AS A BALANCE

By CONNIE SCHWOEGLER
(National Match Game Bowling Champion)

SEVENTH OF A SERIES

DELIVERY—The woman bowler takes her final or fourth step on her left foot as the ball comes forward, her momentum carrying her forward in a slide on the left foot up to the foul line. The right leg serves as a "rudder" for balance.

As the ball comes forward, the woman bowler must bear these points in mind. The ball must be swung in a straight line close to the right knee. The ball must be placed on the alley well over the foul line. Try to roll the ball on the alley, rather than pitch it through the air. And remember to follow through. This is most important since follow through imparts proper action to the ball.

If the bowler follows through properly, her hand will come up as though she were ready to shake hands. The left arm, meanwhile, acts as a balance.

When the bowler fails to follow through, she is likely to kill the action of the ball. The same loss of action can result when the ball is dropped on the approach behind the foul line.

Remember, as you slide up to the foul line on your left foot, you must swing the ball forward in a straight line with a free and easy motion. Swinging through is the important thing, since it gets the ball out on the alley smoothly. Practice will teach you when to release the ball. Avoid dropping it on the approach or throwing it too far out on the alley.

Greg Rice Sets World's Mark

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP). — Greg Rice, one of the greatest of modern distance runners, cracked his own world record for the two and one-half-mile run in the feature event of the tenth annual Catholic University track meet tonight.

Rice covered the distance in 11 minutes 23.3 seconds. His old mark, established here a year ago, was 11 minutes 32.6 seconds. Dave Williams, of Georgetown, finished second.

"Her husband was run over."

"Now that he is gone, I presume she realizes his full value."

"She does. And she won't compromise for a cent less."

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

LAWSUITS are won in various ways. Sometimes the expert witnesses tip the balance. Sometimes the judge's charge is decisive. Generally, the lawyer who is on the winning side believes that his genius was responsible, and his client is made aware of it in his bill. We remember a noted lawsuit in which two of the leaders of the Canadian bar were pitted against each other. The successful counsel considered the issue one of the greatest triumphs in his career. Everybody credited him with having conducted a masterly case. But we happen to know how and when the issue was decided. It was when the plaintiff entered the witness box. Before he had answered a question, a juror said to another: "How would you like to work for that old So and So?" To which the other replied: "He does look like a miserable old So and So, doesn't he?". In effect the verdict was arrived at then and there. No juror but the one who asked the question had any interest in the case, or knew either of the parties. So having prejudiced one juror by an innocent looking question, it was not difficult for both of them to persuade the rest of the jury that the plaintiff did indeed look like miserable So and So.

Americans Capture Qualifying Titles

Lieut. Howard Sias and Seattle Woman Win the Medal Tests

Finding the course to his liking, Lieut. Howard M. Sias, of the United States Navy, stationed at Port Angeles, walked off with the eighteen-hole qualifying round as play opened in the fifteenth annual Empress golf tournament yesterday at the Oak Bay links with a card of 69. He toured the layout in 79, which, with his ten handicap, reduced to a net winning total of ten strokes less.

In the women's division, Mrs. Farrer, of Seattle, paced the field of some thirty-eight shotmakers with a net score of 82, a stroke in front of Miss O'Brien, also from the Sound City. Mrs. J. C. Wilson finished in third berth with a net 84, while Mrs. J. C. Baldwin, Seattle, and Miss B. Ellis, local contender, were tied with 85's, along with Mrs. T. P. Window, Port Angeles. Mrs. Gordon Verley, who, as Eileen Pendray, won the Beatty Trophy two years ago on the same course, was on the list with an 87, but Mrs. H. G. Mackenzie, runner-up in the tournament at Colwood not so long ago, was right in the thick of it with an 86.

Two shotmakers with net scores of 70 headed the Beatty Trophy seekers in the men's section, behind the United States naval officer. They were E. Rapp, Port Angeles, and T. E. Mahood, Calgary, while Ralph Whaley, former Pacific Northwest tournament runner-up and famous throughout the country with his bow and arrow; T. P. Window, Port Angeles; F. Buhrman, Vernon, Wash., and A. C. Brand, Victoria, all turned in scores of 71.

WEATHER IS REALLY TOPS

Ideal weather greeted the big field of 171 contestants, made up of 133 men and thirty-eight women, nineteen of whom were local. Most of the golfers found the greens like a billiard table and therefore the scores were much higher than expected. Three-putting and sometimes the men and women had to use up four putts before finding the flag. Match play will commence today and will continue until Saturday, when the new champions will be used.

Harry Givan, the long-driving Seattle amateur and former P.N.W. champion and Walker Cup star, found the course tough and finished with the best gross score of the day with a 75. His one-plus handicap gave him a score for the day of 76. Givan was out in 35 and came home in 40, while Ralph Whaley was next with nine-hole totals of 37 and 39 for his 76. The tournament medalist played steady golf all the way on a strange course, being out in 37 and over the back stretch in 42.

ICE REFEREES CHOSEN

PORT ARTHUR, March 8 (CP)—Frank Sargent, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, today announced Albert Pudas, of Fort William, and Dan Cox, of Port Arthur, will handle the Alberta-British Columbia Allan Cup series.

Little Theatre Production Is Well Received

Gales of laughter and enthusiastic applause last night greeted the Victoria Little Theatre Association's production of "Springtime for Henry," a farce by Benn Levy. The performance, which will be repeated tonight at 8:15, was given at the Little Theatre Hall, off Rockland Avenue, before a large audience.

Directed by Harry Davis, the play went with professional smoothness from start to finish. The small cast of four, of whom not one was in any sense a minor character, showed an excellent sense of teamwork, playing with spirit and vivacity.

The story concerns Henry Dewlip, something of a rake, who has been making love to Julia, wife of his best friend, Johnny Jellwell, but becomes suddenly reformed at the magic touch of Miss Smith, his recently engaged, angelic secretary. Jellwell, however, has also been attracted to Miss Smith, and the resulting complications make this a most entertaining and frivolous sophisticated comedy, with a surprising denouement brought about by Miss Smith's startling revelation in the third act.

Arthur Kerr plays Henry Dewlip with clear-cut, vigorous humor. Rusty Hannigan, a talented young actress, playing the part of Julia, gives a creditable and genuine performance, particularly in her furious attack on Henry and her catty encounter with Miss Smith.

The role of the attractive Miss Smith is taken by another highly promising young newcomer to Little Theatre ranks, Nora Garcin. She gave a thoroughly convincing characterization, skilfully varied as to timing and intonation.

John Jellwell, Julia's utterly vapid husband, is played by Jack Reynolds with his usual competent thoroughness and high sense of comedy. Leslie Lamb and Pat Hannington were responsible for the stage management. The Little Theatre orchestra played during the intermissions.

This true story is reported from a country postoffice.

An aged woman entered, asked for a money order for £10, and some odds and ends of stamps and postcards, totaling three shillings and sixpence.

She handed the latter sum over the counter. When she was told the total amount was £10 3s 6d she looked surprised and protested:

"But I was told that the money order was free if it was for income tax."

At the Theatres

Musical Success Now at Dominion

Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, one of the most popular of the band outfits, will be seen today on the screen of the Dominion Theatre in Warner Bros.' "Varsity Show," the cast of which also boasts Dick Powell and Rosemary and Priscilla Lane, Walter Catlett, Johnny "Scat" Davis and Buck Bubbles, well-known dance team. "Varsity Show," which was first presented to the moviegoing public a few seasons ago, is being rereleased by Warner Bros. as one of the brightest and gayest of this company's long list of musical successes. It also affords an opportunity to the thousands of new Waring fans to see their band-leading favorite in action on the screen.

Amusements

On the Screen

Atlas—Bette Davis and Paul Henreid in "Now, Voyager."

Cadet—Kay Kyser and his band with Ellen Drew in "My Favorite Spy."

Capitol—"For Me and My Gal," starring Judy Garland and George Murphy.

Dominion—Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane in "Varsity Show."

Oak Bay and Plaza—"The Powers Girl," starring Carole Landis, George Murphy and Anne Shirley.

Rio—Henry Fonda, Don Ameche and Lynn Bari in "The Magnificent Dope."

York—Dorothy Lamour and Richard Denning in "Beyond the Blue Horizon."

ATLAS THEATRE — Bonita Granville, who's not yet sixteen, has already felt the first pinch of the years. She had to be made to look at least three years younger in order to appear in Warner Bros.' "Now, Voyager," as Ilka Chase's daughter and Bette Davis' niece, in the film now showing at the Atlas Theatre. She plays a rather precocious youngster whose teasing at first drives her aunt to distraction, but later is completely won over by Bette's changed outlook on life.

CADET THEATRE — You can't explain a blonde to your wife, Kay Kyser discovers in his latest hilarious film musical, R.K.O. Radio's "My Favorite Spy," now playing at the Cadet Theatre. Drafted into the secret service while on his honeymoon, Kyser finds himself teamed with a beautiful woman operative and is compelled to embark on nocturnal adventures with her without explaining the situation to his bride. Ellen Drew plays the wife and Jane Wyman is cast as the blonde espionage operative.

CAPITOL THEATRE — Here's a dancer's story that's different. Usually they tell you about vaudeville, the small-time cabarets and the years on the road. Gene Kelly, star of the Broadway success of last year, "Pal Joey," who is making his screen debut as Judy Garland's leading man in "For Me and My Gal," now playing at the Capitol Theatre, got his experience another way. In his comparatively brief career, this dancer has found time to earn a college degree, operate a successful dancing school and direct a show or two.

RIO THEATRE — When a girl like Lynn Bari is pursued by two swains like Henry Fonda and Don Ameche, you'd hardly expect to find much harmony; but here it is! The three are co-starring in 20th Century-Fox's comedy hit, "The Magnificent Dope," currently delighting moviegoers at the Rio Theatre. Edward Everett Horton and George Barbier head the supporting cast in this amusing tale of a country lad who runs afoul of some city slickers.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES — If report is true that "music calls the savage beast" then "The Powers Girl," which is now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres through United Artists release, should salve the anger of present-day savagery. Studded with headline entertainers from the world of music is Benny Goodman and his orchestra and Dennis Day, singing star of Jack Benny's radio programme. "The Powers Girl" also offers an unusual variety of new tunes.

YORK THEATRE — Dorothy Lamour introduces a new song hit in "Beyond the Blue Horizon," her Paramount June film in Technicolor, which is now playing at the York Theatre. The song is "A Full Moon and an Empty Heart," written by Mort Greene and Harry Revel, composers of many song hits.

Try New, Improved Ovaltine

If your child lacks a zest for food, it may be that his diet is short on very important food elements which science has discovered, every one needs for health. His growth may be stunted or impaired and he may be an easy victim to preventing sickness.

As a "protective" food drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient in his diet.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B, and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron, plus quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins all for building sturdy bodies.

So if your child eats poorly, refuses to eat, tires quickly, or just doesn't seem up to par, why not start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine regularly? Get a tin at your druggist or food store.

There, too, go I!

Wherever strength and skill can bring
Surcease to human suffering
There, too, am I!

I go wherever men may dare.
I go wherever woman's care

My help I give.

The cross which on my arm I wear,

"The Boy From Maine"
By KATHARINE BRUSH

CHAPTER XLIV

She left him, and he opened the suitcase on the rope springs of the bed and dug stuff out of it. He had brought the oldest and most casual clothes he owned—but now he saw that even these would be absurd for island wear. The worst outfit was a shirt and a pair of slacks he had bought in Cannes two years ago and worn a lot, but now and here they suddenly looked insufferably swanky. They were all he had to put on, though, so he got into them. He had brought tennis sneakers and he thrust his bare feet into those. He went downstairs and called to Mary that he was going out to have a look around . . . and he went out, breathing great draughts of air and thinking, Good. Ah, this is swell!

He took the path on the high ridge, from which he could see everything—this whole end of the island, with the water on three sides, forests on the mountains, fields, and a few final native houses—the last outposts.

For some time he wasn't even aware that he was being observed; then suddenly something made him turn his head and look around at the high bank behind him, where the alders and the birches grew. There was a girl up there—an island girl in a blue dress with very yellow hair. She was pretending not to notice him, in the island fashion. Her profile was averted and she was staring out to sea.

He was amused, and also curious, because she looked attractive at this distance—she looked rather like a show-girl tricked out for a bucolic scene. "What, no shiny silver milk pail?" Hobey said to himself. She continued to hold the pose, and he sat waiting in silence for her to snap out of it; but she didn't—evidently the first move was up to him—so presently he called to her, "Hello there."

She turned slowly and looked down at him, and he thought she echoed his hello, but he wasn't sure. He tried again, "How's everything?"

"All right," she said.

"Come on down, why don't you?"

There was a pause. "All right," she said again.

She came down the steep bank, and he watched her coming. She moved a little awkwardly, grasping at tree branches to steady herself—this was no sure-footed blander like most of them—this was more like a timid Summer visitor, with her ankles wobbling. In a minute he saw why this was. The island girls wore sneakers when they did not go barefooted, but this one had on bright red shoes with high French heels, and bows across the instep. When he saw those he knew all about her, and especially since he knew so well what effort they must cost her, walking rough paths, climbing wharf ladders. They were as foolish—and as coquettish—as they could be.

Her slow descent continued, and he noted other things about her while she came. She had such yellow hair it almost hurt your eyes in the bright sunlight; it hung loose, in a long bob, and it was tied back from her face with a ribbon. She looked very young—sixteen or seventeen, not more. She grew prettier as she came nearer; step by step it dawned on him that this was one of the prettiest natural blondes he had ever seen. She even had a good figure, in the tight blue cotton dress . . . it was a show girl's figure, confirming his first impression. Lush was the word.

She reached the sand and came towards him a little way, and stopped, and looked at him. Her eyes were gentian blue and strangely shaped . . . "Hello," he said to her again. He still hadn't the faintest idea who she was. He tried to remember which of the innumerable island kids had promised beauty, years ago; but he couldn't remember anyone who might have grown up to look like this.

"Hello," she repeated; adding diffidently, "—Hobey."

She had a shy way of speaking, but a bold way of looking. "Likely you don't recollect me," she said. "I'm Bonnie. Bonivere Roberts."

"So you are. Why, sure I do. But you must admit you've grown a little."

"You been gone a long time," she said gravely. Accusingly, almost. "Nigh on ten years."

"You mean you missed me?" Hobey said. "Well, that was nice of you. I missed you, too, now that I think of it. Sit down, why don't you?"

"Well," Bonnie said, "I don't mind if I do."

She chose a rock a little way off and she sat sideways on it. Hobey kept looking steadily at her, smiling in a friendly way, till Bonnie averted her face again, and once again looked at the sea. This might be shyness, more of it, or it might be that she wanted him to see her pretty profile . . . She was proud of her legs, too. You could tell that.

She said absently, "I always thought you might come back some day."

"I'm flattered that you remembered me at all."

"Sure I remembered you," said Bonnie. "Ever since you went. You ask Sadie if I didn't. Or ask Mary."

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—Leading stocks generally backed into losing territory today, but assorted low-priced specialties kept the market pot boiling with fractional advances to new highs for a year or longer.

Trends were ragged from the start and, aside from big blocks of "penny" issues, dealings slowed appreciably after the opening. Turnover, however, exceeded the million-share mark for the tenth consecutive full session. Declines running to a point or so were in the majority at the close.

Cashing of further profits on the ten-month rise impeded progress in most cases. Notwithstanding persistence of good war news, inflation psychology and investment demand, bullish forces, on the whole, inclined to stand aside pending more assurance a sizable correction was not in the offing. Buying of stocks selling under $10 a share was again attributed to expanding public participation.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was off 1 of a point at 46.4, which was only 1 under the peak since early November, 1940. Transfers totaled 1,245,750 shares, compared with 1,208,870 last Friday.

Stocks touching best levels for 1942-43 included Studebaker, Superior Oil, Hayes Mfg., Budd Mfg., Celanese (which apparently reflected a pleasing earnings statement), Thermoid, Sperry and Curtiss-Wright.

Aircrafts got a play in the forenoon but most failed to follow through and Boeing, Douglas, Glenn Martin and United finished behind minus signs.

Recipes for Butter Stretching

Don't give up butter. Butter is one of the most valuable sources of important Vitamin A. You need it for a sound, health-building diet. It's a delicious necessity. It gives rich flavor on your table.

TESTED RECIPES FOR STRETCHING BUTTER: MAKES TWO POUNDS OF SPREAD FROM ONE POUND OF BUTTER . . .

1 lb. butter
1 pint milk
1 envelope Cox's gelatine

Stir gelatine into ½ cup of milk and place cup in hot water to dissolve. Remove cup from the heat and cool. Soften butter just enough to beat with egg beater by cutting into pieces and placing in dish over hot water. Add remainder of milk to gelatine mixture. Beat the gelatine-milk mixture into the butter until all the milk has been taken up. (This will take a fairly long period of beating.) Add salt to taste. Shape into pounds and place in cool place.

1 lb. butter (softened and cut up)
3 egg yolks
1 pint warm milk (half fresh and half tinned)
Salt to taste

Cream the butter and add egg yolks. BEAT WELL—add warm milk gradually, beating until the mixture becomes thick and firm. Mould in dish or container and place in cool place.

This spread, although lower in calories than butter, has all these food values.

Vitamin A, D, B Complex, Butter Fats, Protein and Calcium

This spread may be used for bread, toast, muffins, waffles, pancakes and vegetables etc.

1843 VICTORIA'S CENTENARY 1943

FROM HBC FORT TO MODERN CITY

To Honor Victoria's 100th Birthday

It was a century ago, March 14, 1843, that James Douglas and a small party landed and started the construction of an H.B.C. fort. From this beginning, the City of Victoria has grown.

Featured in a programme of events, to honor Victoria's 100th Birthday, Victoria's Centenary Committee, under the chairmanship of Alderman Duncan D. McTavish, have planned the following:

Sunday, March 14
The British Columbia Historical Association
Motor Cavalcade

The British Columbia Historical Association has completed arrangements for a motor cavalcade between 2 and 4 o'clock on the afternoon of March 14, to place seven Provincial Government plaques on the first two brick dwellings erected here, the first school and bank, and other pioneer buildings.

Three short speeches will be delivered by Bruce A. McKelvie, E. G. Rowlatton and F. C. Greene. Musical selections will be played by the Victoria High School Band.

An appeal is being made for car owners to volunteer their machines in transporting pioneers who wish to view the historical points. They are asked to notify Mrs. M. R. Cree at E 1111, and to assemble before the Parliament Buildings before 2 o'clock.

Monday, March 15
I.O.D.E. Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter
Centenary Luncheon

On Monday, March 15, at the Empress Hotel, the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will hold a Centenary Luncheon commemorating Victoria's 100th Birthday. The public is cordially invited to attend. An interesting address will be given by Mr. Bruce McKelvie, and the occasion will witness the presentation by Premier John Hart, to the City of Victoria, of a painting of Sir James Douglas.

Tickets may be secured from any member of the I.O.D.E. Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, and from the librarian on the Mezzanine Floor at "The Bay."

Please secure your tickets early, as number is limited. There will be no tickets sold at the luncheon. (Tickets, $1.50).

Friday, March 19
Victoria's Civic
Pioneers' Luncheon

On Friday, March 19, the City of Victoria will be luncheon host to Victoria's pioneers at the Empress Hotel. Guest pioneers will be those resident in Victoria and south of the Malahat before December 31, 1871.

Plans call for greetings to the early residents from the Lieutenant Governor, Colonel The Honorable William Culham Woodward, Premier John Hart and Mayor Andrew McGavin.

Pioneers who may wish to attend are asked to register at the City Hall, or at the office of Alderman D. D. McTavish, 618 Broughton Street.
